our learning

Reading

In Reader's Workshop we will focus on checking our reading. We will use visual cues to read challenging words. We will check that the words we are reading make sense and sound right. Students love doing this-don't be surprised if they cover up words with post-its to test your reading skills.. In phonics we will be learning short u.

Math

We have started our subtraction chapter. In this chapter students will learn to subtract using many different strategies. They will use pictures, objects and models as tools this week. We are also being detectives looking for words that are signals to subtract.

Religion

We will continue to learn about creation and God's Love for us. Students will be assessed on The Sign of the Cross.

Writing

Students will continue to zoom in on details to elaborate their stories. We will begin to partner read our stories and collaborate to revise stories. Students will walking through a writing museum and share their stories with each other.

Social Studies

Students will be exploring families in our next unit. We will be reading books about families and discussing how families are similar and different. Students will have to create a time line and bring in a family photo for homework.
