From the Pastor's Desk

For several weeks the Sunday Gospels have reminded us of what it means to be disciples. The passages from Luke recounted the teachings, parables, and examples of Jesus' ministry that shape and direct our efforts at being faithful disciples. As we near the end of Ordinary Time the readings shift the focus from our behavior to the action of God in the world and in our lives.

The author of Wisdom speaks of God as the Lord of the cosmos. God looks upon the world as the harvester regards the single grain that falls from the balance, the scale that measures the harvest. For the harvester every grain is important, and the author of Wisdom says that God looks upon the whole world with the same attention and care. The second analogy portrays the same attentiveness; God sees the world as though it were a single drop of dew. This is a God of immeasurable care and compassion.

In Luke's story of Zacchaeus, Jesus fulfills that very role; he "has come to seek and to save what was lost." There is something amusing and even ridiculous about the plight of Zacchaeus. He is no ordinary tax collector (a group despised by the citizens), he is the chief tax collector. He must have been slightly embarrassed—a person of his position having to climb a tree to see Jesus. But he sets aside any personal inhibitions and climbs up.

Then an amazing thing happens. Jesus announces that he is coming to stay at his house. Jesus becomes both guest and host at the table of a sinner.

When we gather for liturgy we believe that we encounter the Lord in the Word, in the elements of the sacrament, in the priest, and in each other. At the Eucharistic liturgy the Lord is both guest and host. He becomes the meal and the host at our Eucharistic table, and in that event of communion we are transformed.

Advent Parish Mission

Mark your calendars! Our community is having a Parish Mission starting Sunday evening, December 11 and ending Wednesday, December 14. Catholic Lay Evangelist, Bill Wegner, of Good News International is conducting the mission. The theme is "Living the Gospel Today". This will be a great time to be encouraged in our faith. Plan to be there and bring a friend!

Nightfever NYC – November 19, 2016

Coming back to St. Patrick's Cathedral

On the last night of the Year of Mercy, Nightfever NYC will be hosting this night of praise, worship and reconciliation at Saint Patrick's Cathedral (50th Street and 5th Avenue). We will have the opportunity to pray before the Lord in the Blessed Sacrament as well as light candles to honor Our Lord. The evening of music and prayer will start at 7:00 p.m. and end at 9:00 p.m. Confessions will be heard throughout the night. Come and be a part of this night, where the Cathedral will have its doors open to all New Yorkers so they can come, pray, and love the Lord.
