From the Pastor's Desk

Proverbs opens the Liturgy of the Word with the image of Wisdom calling us to share in her banquet. Begotten by God and helper at creation, Wisdom promises to feed us with insight and knowledge. For Christians, her banquet foreshadows the gift of the Eucharist.

Today's Gospel continues the Bread of Life discourse with some of the deepest theological and sacramental insights in the Gospel of John. With Jesus' statement that "the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world" John connects the Incarnation with the events of salvation: "The Word became flesh" for the purpose of giving his life for the salvation of the world.

This is also a reminder of the words of the Institution of the Eucharist: "Then he took the bread, said the blessing, broke it, and gave it to them, saying, "This is my body, which will be given for you...". The connection between the Eucharist and Jesus' Death is further strengthened by the words "unless you drink his blood." As Jesus is "the living water" he is also the "living bread." As the Sacrament of Baptism confers the life of God, the Sacrament of the Eucharist nourishes this life. For John, the purpose of the Incarnation of the Word was more than becoming flesh to take on our human nature. The Incarnation also embraced Jesus' Death and Resurrection—the Paschal Mystery—whose life-giving effects would nourish believers in the celebration of the Eucharist.

Jesus' words culminate by saying that "the one who feeds on me will have life because of me." Unequivocally Jesus tells us that in the Eucharist we share in the very life of God.
