The Ascension of the Lord The Sixth Sunday of Easter

Today's feast, the Ascension of our Lord

to Heaven, shows us the truth of our own death. We, too, shall rise from the grave with new, glorified bodies, and rise to eternal life with God in Heaven, where He has prepared for us a place. What a glorious promise! The grave is not the end for us, but rather the beginning of our eternal life. Let us look up to heaven today and thank God for our life here on earth, and for the assurance Jesus gave us that death is not the end, but for those who choose Jesus, the beginning of the life for which we were created -- to know, love and serve our God and dwell with Him now and forever!

"I go and prepare a place for you; and I will come again and receive you to Myself, that where I am, there you may be also." John 14:2-3.

June-- Month of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

O most holy heart of Jesus, fountain of every blessing, I adore you, I love you, and with lively sorrow for my sins I offer you this poor heart of mine. Make me humble, patient, pure and wholly obedient to your will. Grant, Good Jesus, that I may live in you and for you. Protect me in the midst of danger. Comfort me in my afflictions. Give me health of body, assistance in my temporal needs, your blessing on all that I do, and the grace of a holy death. Amen.

In the Gospel Reading for the Seventh Sunday, Jesus prays to the Father that all those who believe in him may be one, as he and the Father are one. And he goes on to give a dizzying description of what this “being one” is. Here is a summary:

*The Father is in Christ.
Christ is in the Father.*

*Christ is in the people who believe in him
The Father is in the people who believe in Christ
(since the Father is in Christ, and Christ is in those people who believe in Christ)*

*The people who believe in Christ are in Christ and the Father.

If my beloved is mine, then somehow he is part of me, as are all things that are mine.

Vertigo visits us, because we think of being in as something that goes only one way. The tiny box is in the small box, which is in the medium-sized box, etc. But however this list goes on, we do not expect it to go on like this: “which is in the large box, which is in the tiny box.” It can’t go on like that, we think, because being in can’t work that way.

And that might be right, where boxes are concerned. But it isn’t right when it comes to love.

In fact, this funny kind of being-in is at the heart of love. When you and another person love each other, then, without losing the self that you are, you come to be inside that other, who at the same time is inside you, without losing the self that is his, either.

The very nature of union in love is just this mutual indwelling: “my beloved is mine, and I am his” (Song of Songs 2:16). If my beloved is mine, then somehow he is part of me, as are all things that are mine. But then if I am his, I am somehow part of him, as are all things that are his. And so I am in him, and he is in me, in love.

This is the love of Christ and the Father. Each one is in the other. And this is the love to which Christ invites all those who care for him, too. In love, they will be in Christ and the Father, even as Christ and the Father are in each one of them.
