Good News: New HHS secretary is Pro-Life & Pro-Natural Marriage & says "There is nothing more fundamental to our humanity than to defend life"

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 29, 2016 (LifeSiteNews) – President-elect Donald Trump has chosen pro-life, pro-marriage, anti-Obamacare Rep. Tom Price, R-GA, to be his Secretary of Health and Human Services, Trump announced early Tuesday. Price is an orthopedic surgeon and the Chairman of the House Budget Committee. He has said “there’s nothing more precious or more worth defending than the sanctity of life” in a video made to commemorate the 43rd anniversary of Roe v. Wade. “Now, more than ever, the American people and the lives of countless Americans not yet born need folks who will stand up for life,” said Price. In this video, he defended the Hyde Amendment, which prevents taxpayer funding of Medicaid abortions.

“There is nothing more fundamental to our humanity than to defend life,” Price commented on the 2011 March for Life. “The March for Life movement has for nearly four decades given a voice to those who have no voice. It is a privilege to stand together with thousands of Americans in solidarity and faithful commitment to our solemn duty to protect and defend the lives of the most innocent among us.”

Price reacted to Obergefell v. Hodges, the Supreme Court decision redefining marriage in all 50 states, by decrying the use of the Court system as “a systematic springboard to enact agendas outside the democratic and legislative structures of government.” “Thirty States have held statewide ballots banning gay marriage since the year 2000, and yet legislating from the bench has superseded both public approval and our elected representatives,” said Price. “This is not only a sad day for marriage, but a further judicial destruction of our entire system of checks and balances.”

Cardinal Dolan Calls for Renewed Fight Against Doctor-Assisted Suicide

US Conference of Catholic Bishops, Nov. 21, 2016 Washington, DC

The Washington, DC, City Council and the voters of Colorado both recently acted to legalize doctor-prescribed suicide. Cardinal Timothy Dolan of New York, chair of the U.S. bishops’ Committee on Pro-Life Activities, called for increased efforts to fight against assisted suicide, saying it must be “opposed with renewed vigor.”

A statement from Cardinal Timothy Dolan of New York, the Chairman of United States Conference of Catholic Bishops’ Committee on Pro-Life Activities, says that seven jurisdictions in the United States have now opened the legal door to this dangerous abuse of medicine, an alarming trend that must be stopped for the sake of human dignity and the sacredness of life.

In Colorado, Proposition 106 legalized the ability of a doctor to write prescriptions for the sole purpose of killing another human being, and the ability of insurance companies to refuse treatment of patients they consider terminal. The DC law is the most expansive and dangerous so far. It goes beyond assisted suicide by allowing third parties to administer the lethal drugs opening the door even further to coercion and abuse.

Every suicide is tragic, whether someone is young or old, healthy or sick. But the legalization of doctor-assisted suicide creates two classes of people: those whose suicides are to be prevented at any cost, and those whose suicides are deemed a positive good. We remove weapons and drugs that can cause harm to one group, while handing deadly drugs to the other, setting up yet another kind of life-threatening discrimination. This is completely unjust.

Our inherent human dignity does not wane with the onset of illness or incapacity, and so all are worthy of protection. The act of prescribing a fatal, poisonous dose, moreover, undermines the very heart of medicine. Doctors vow to do no harm, and yet assisted suicide is the ultimate abandonment of their patients.

What seriously ill – and often depressed — patients need is authentic support, including doctors fully committed to their welfare and pain management as they enter their final days. Patients need our assurance that they are not a burden — that it is a privilege to care for them as we ourselves hope to be cared for one day. A compassionate society devotes more attention, not less, to members facing the most vulnerable times in their lives. So doctor-assisted suicide must now be opposed with renewed vigor.

Catholics must join medical professionals, disability rights groups, and other concerned citizens in fighting for the authentic care of those facing terminal illness. In 2011, the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops issued a statement on assisted suicide, “To Live Each Day with Dignity.” The full text, as well as information on the Catholic Church’s advocacy on end-of-life issues, is available online: www.usccb.org/issues-and-action/human-lifeand-dignity/assisted-suicide/to-live-each-day.

BLOOD DRIVE Come and give the best Christmas present to those in need by attending the St. Anne Blood Drive on Wednesday Dec, 15th

Christmas Gift Giving Tree Gifts Due This Weekend!

Please bring a gift appropriate for each tag you have taken and return the gift to the church no later than 12 noon Mass on 12/11. Attach the tag to the wrapped gift so we will know how to direct it. The gifts will be taken to the schools the week of 12/19, and the school faculty will then deliver them to the homes of the families.

Please help brighten Christmas for these needy families. Money donations would also be appreciated. Money gifts are used for food vouchers to be evenly divided amongst the families. Your money donations should be placed in an envelope marked "Gift Giving Tree and placed in the collection basket.

Please be sure to return your gifts by the December 11 noon Mass...all tags must be accounted for.

THANK YOU!!!!!!!

DePaul University says Unborn Lives Don't Matter

http://www.americanthinker.com/articles/2016/11/catholic\_university\_says\_unborn\_lives\_dont\_matter.html

One would think that a Catholic University like DePaul University in Chicago would be a bastion against the corruption of secular humanism and political correctness, particularly when it involves a tenet of Catholic belief - that life begins at conception and ends at natural death. But the DePaul College Republicans found out differently when they attempted to display "Unborn Lives Matter" posters on campus similar to the "Black Lives Matter" scattered with administration approval around campus.

As The American Catholic reports:

While "Black Lives Matter" posters hang on DePaul administrative office windows, President Rev. Dennis H. Holtschneider has banned College Republicans from hanging their "Unborn Lives Matter" posters on campus, despite the school being the largest Catholic university in the United States, allegedly backing the Catholic tenet (and science) that life begins at conception. According to the university president, these three words are rooted in "bigotry" and might "provoke" other students.
