Scripture Readings

June 3, 2018

Corpus Christi

First Reading: Exodus 24:3-8

Moses explained to the people the commandments he had received from God. Upon hearing them, the entire community immediately agreed they would do as God had told them. Moses then sacrificed young bulls and sprinkled the people with their blood, calling it the blood of the covenant they had made.

Second Reading: Hebrews 9:11-15

Jesus did not offer God the blood of sacrifices, but instead he offered up his own blood to cleanse all people of the transgressions they had committed under the first covenant with God. Christ instead brought a new covenant, which, if kept, would lead to eternal life.

Gospel: Mark 14:12-16, 22-26

Jesus sent two of his disciples to prepare the Passover supper. During the meal he blessed bread and offered it to them saying, "This is my body." He then offered them wine and called it his blood, "the blood of the covenant, to be poured out on behalf of many."

Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity

Today the Church celebrates the Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity. It is unique in that it does not commemorate a person or an event like a saint or the Resurrection, or Christmas. This Solemnity allows us to focus on the central belief of Christianity, that of the Trinity, the dogma of the triune God who is Father, Son and Holy Spirit. It is one of the great mysteries of our faith. The liturgical prayers for this Solemnity, particularly of the Mass, allow us to delve into and unpack the mystery.

The Collect (Opening Prayer) expresses the meaning of the mystery in terms of the active, dynamic power of the Trinity: The Father sends into the world the Word of truth (the Son) and the Spirit of sanctification. Through this action, he reveals to the human race his own "wondrous mystery." The prayer says that through the Trinity we know the very life of God Himself. The Preface (the section of the Eucharistic Prayer before the "Holy, Holy") emphasizes the theological truth of God being "one God, one Lord, not in the unity of a single person, but in a Trinity of one substance." It also emphasizes how each Person of the Trinity is united in substance (Divinity), equal in majesty, and "adored in what is proper to each Person." Each Person is equal, but unique.

So, while we may never fully comprehend every last aspect of the doctrine of the Trinity, the liturgy assists us to understand it more completely.

Memorial Day

This weekend as we enjoy the freedoms that we have in all the different ways we do, let us remember to honor and pray for all those men and women who fought for that freedom, and for those who continue to fight for our freedom. Let us always remember to show great respect for the flag of our nation under which so many men and women died. Our nation is under the patronage of the Immaculate Conception. Let us ask for Mary's prayers that we may be one nation under God through her intercession and loving care. Happy Memorial Day and God bless our great nation!

"That we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

-- Abraham Lincoln, Gettysburg Address, 1863
