

...Brothers and sisters: Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with which you were sealed for the day of redemption. All bitterness, fury, anger, shouting, and reviling must be removed from you, along with all malice. And be kind to one another, compassionate, forgiving one another as God has forgiven you in Christ. So be imitators of God, as beloved children, and live in love, as Christ loved us and handed himself over for us as a sacrificial offering to God for a fragrant aroma.

Opening Prayer

Almighty ever-living God, whom, taught by the Holy Spirit,
we dare to call our Father,
bring, we pray, to perfection in our hearts
the spirit of adoption as your sons and daughters, that we may merit to enter into the inheritance
which you have promised.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Reflecting on Living the Gospel

"Ratchet up the tension" is a phrase we hear when discussions are getting heated, when one side or the other refuses to back down, or when someone drives home the argument relentlessly. Often we can shy away from ratcheting up the tension as it can make people uncomfortable. And those who do not shy away from this can be seen as boorish, overzealous, or simply hot-headed. But in this story, Jesus is not afraid to ratchet up the tension. He is not afraid to deal with any ramifications thereof.

In the gospel reading from last week the people wanted Jesus to give them a sign like the manna in the desert. In response Jesus claimed that he was the Bread of Life come down from heaven. This week he goes even further. Not surprisingly the crowds are hesitant to believe such a claim. Jesus does not back down. Instead, he takes it to the next level, as it were. He quotes Isaiah: "They shall all be taught by God." Both he and the crowds understood the meaning. He was placing himself on par with God or, rather, even equating himself with God. This was becoming too much. But Jesus goes another step further. He states flatly and perhaps boorishly that their ancestors ate manna and died. The people wanted Jesus to perform some sign akin to the manna, but in fact those who ate the manna died in any case. What Jesus provides gives eternal life. He himself is the Bread of Life, come down from heaven. And as a final trump card, he plays the line that ratchets it up once again. The bread he gives is his very flesh.

Closing Prayer

Father of mercy, we place these prayers before you. As you have become bread for us, make us bread for one another; as your Spirit instills in us your love and peace, let us mirror that love and peace to one another. We offer these prayers in the name of Jesus, the Bread of Life. Amen.

For Reflection:

- How are we a "eucharistic" church?

Suggestions for group and individual use:

1. Pray aloud the opening prayer (in The Roman Missal called the "collect");
2. One person read aloud the gospel;
3. Each read prayerfully "Reflecting on Living the Gospel" and spend some time in personal prayer;
4. Share together responses to "For Reflection";
5. Pray the "Closing Prayer."

Gospel

John 6:41-51

The Jews murmured about Jesus because he said,
"I am the bread that came down from heaven,"
and they said,
"Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph? Do we not know his father and mother? Then how can he say, 'I have come down from heaven?'"
Jesus answered and said to them,
"Stop murmuring among yourselves. No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draw him, and I will raise him on the last day. It is written in the prophets: They shall all be taught by God. Everyone who listens to my Father and learns from him comes to me. Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one who is from God; he has seen the Father.

Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever believes has eternal life. I am the bread of life. Your ancestors ate the manna in the desert, but they died; this is the bread that comes down from heaven so that one may eat it and not die. I am the living bread that came down from heaven; whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world."
