

CORPUS CHRISTI

...Brothers and sisters: I received from the Lord what I also handed on to you, that the Lord Jesus, on the night he was handed over, took bread, and after he had given thanks, broke it and said, "This is my body that is for you. Do this in remembrance of me.".. 1 Corinthians

RCIA

Do you know anyone who would like to learn about the faith and the Church. Our RCIA is starting the end of September on the 21st. The classes are approximately one hour meetings at 10:00 A.M. You can call Fr. Barry for more details and the schedule.

2 Weeks left to sign up to join Fr. Barry in October for his trip to France. Call the office for information.

Would you like to provide an email address for St. Rose? It may be a good way to stay connected for all our events.

Please email strosecin@aol.com with your information.

This is the Will of My Father: that all who see the Son and believe in Him may have eternal life.*

John 6:40

Reflection. The Father made God visible to human beings through numerous mysteries to prevent them from losing everything—even their very lives. For the Glory of God is the living person, and the life of a person is the vision of God.

St. Irenaeus

Prayer. Heavenly Father, let me keep alive both the natural and the supernatural life You have given me in Christ. Help me to live my earthly life to the full so that I may attain eternal life through Him.

Opening Prayer

O God, who in this wonderful Sacrament have left us a memorial of your Passion, grant us, we pray, so to revere the sacred mysteries of your Body and Blood that we may always experience in ourselves the fruits of your redemption. Who live and reign with God the Father in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Reflecting on Living the Gospel

"Mange, mange!" the Italian grandmother said to her grandchild. The plate of homemade pasta was too good to simply sit there untouched. The grandmother encouraged the child to "eat, eat!" And so the grandchild did and soon there was nothing left but some stray noodles. It brought a smile to both faces.

On the feast of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ we read from the Gospel of Luke. Though we might expect Luke's account of the institution of the Eucharist at the Last Supper, we have, instead, the multiplication of the loaves. This episode is laden with eucharistic overtones, especially in the verbs used: taking, blessed, broke, and gave, which are used at the Last Supper, and in our eucharistic liturgy. So even though we are not reading from the Last Supper, eucharistic theology is baked into the story of the multiplication of the loaves.

Recall that the evangelist Luke portrayed Jesus as an infant lying in a manger. The word manger is often misunderstood as a cozy, comfy place to set a sleeping baby. But a manger is actually a "feed-trough," as the root word, mange, indicates. It's the place from which the animals eat. Narratively speaking, Luke is showing that from infancy Jesus, placed in the feed-trough, is food for the world. In the concluding chapter of the Gospel of Luke, on the road to Emmaus the disciples will learn that after the resurrection they come to know Jesus in the breaking of the bread. So this eucharistic theology is not limited to the Last Supper. It permeates Luke's story. How appropriate that we read from his gospel today, on the feast of the Body and Blood of Christ. We feast on the body of Jesus, food for the world. Mange, mange!

Closing Prayer

Bread of Life and food for the world, Jesus, incarnate son of God, may we feast on you, your word, and your wisdom. You come to us daily in the Eucharist. After consuming you, may we too become bread for the world, broken and shared freely with those in need. We ask this in your holy name. Amen.

For Reflection:

- How do you see the eucharistic pattern of taking, blessing, breaking, and giving in your own life? How have you been chosen, blessed, and shared with others?

Suggestions for group and individual use:

1. Pray aloud the "Opening Prayer" (in The Roman Missal called the "collect").
2. One person read aloud the gospel.
3. Each read prayerfully "Reflecting on Living the Gospel" and spend some time in personal prayer.
4. Share together responses to "For Reflection."
5. Pray the "Closing Prayer."

Gospel

Luke 9:11b-17

Jesus spoke to the crowds about the kingdom of God, and he healed those who needed to be cured.

As the day was drawing to a close, the Twelve approached him and said, "Dismiss the crowd so that they can go to the surrounding villages and farms and find lodging and provisions; for we are in a deserted place here."

He said to them, "Give them some food yourselves."

They replied, "Five loaves and two fish are all we have, unless we ourselves go and buy food for all these people."

Now the men there numbered about five thousand.

Then he said to his disciples, "Have them sit down in groups of about fifty."

They did so and made them all sit down.

Then taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing over them, broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd. They all ate and were satisfied. And when the leftover fragments were picked up, they filled twelve wicker baskets.
