Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Vigilance and loyalty: Where Matthew and especially Mark speak of the fall of Jerusalem and the Parousia, Luke refers to the presence of the Spirit of Jesus in the daily life of his disciples, for he writes under a double tension, the eschatological moment does not come for Jesus till his death; but for the disciples who read the Gospel the Spirit has already been given. Similar ideas occur in the parable of the ten virgins. Loins be girt, the long, oriental robes were drawn up and tucked into the belt at the waist to facilitate movement. The nuptial banquet is a messianic biblical theme. Jewish practice divided the night into three watches, but Roman into four. It does not matter how long the delay lasts; Luke thinks only of the indefinite period of the Church's existence. These verses parallel Matthew. Judging for the following section, he is also the administrator of Christ's household. It is difficult to determine the exact point of Peter's question; is the banquet only for the Twelve or for all Christians? Jesus ignores the question implying that it was out of place. These verses are found only in Luke: The point of this passage concerns the leaders in the Christian community, who bear the greater responsibility. God's own agents, loved more by him, will suffer the more if they fail to correspond to the graces accorded to their role.

DecimoNoveno Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario

Vigilancia y lealtad: donde Mateo y especialmente Marcos hablan de la caída de Jerusalén y la Parusía, Lucas se refiere a la presencia del Espíritu de Jesús en la vida diaria de sus discípulos, porque escribe bajo una doble tensión, el momento escatológico no ven por Jesús hasta su muerte; pero para los discípulos que leen el Evangelio, el Espíritu ya ha sido dado. Ideas similares ocurren en la parábola de las diez vírgenes. Los lomos deben ceñirse, las largas túnicas orientales fueron estiradas y metidas en el cinturón en la cintura para facilitar el movimiento.

El banquete nupcial es un tema bíblico mesiánico. La práctica judía dividió la noche en tres relojes, pero la romana en cuatro. No importa cuánto dure el retraso; Lucas solo piensa en el período indefinido de la existencia de la Iglesia. Estos versículos son paralelos a Mateo. A juzgar por la siguiente sección, también es el administrador de la casa de Cristo. Es difícil determinar el punto exacto de la pregunta de Peter; ¿El banquete es solo para los Doce o para todos los cristianos? Jesús ignora la pregunta que implica que estaba fuera de lugar. Estos versículos se encuentran solo en Lucas: el punto de este pasaje concierne a los líderes de la comunidad cristiana, quienes tienen la mayor responsabilidad. Los propios agentes de Dios, más amados por él, sufrirán más si no se corresponden con las gracias otorgadas a su papel.

A prayer to begin the school year

God of wisdom and might, we praise you for the wonder of our being for mind, body and spirit. Be with our children as they begin a new school year. Bless them and their teachers and staff. Give them strength and grace as their bodies grow; wisdom and knowledge to their minds as they search for understanding; and peace and zeal to their hearts. We ask this through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen
