FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

The early Christians originally passed on the Gospel stories orally and did not write them down until several years after Jesus' death and resurrection. Whenever they gathered to celebrate the Eucharist, they recalled some of the things Jesus said, repeating the stories about Jesus for those who were not fortunate enough to have heard them themselves.

First-century Christians sometimes recalled and retold stories to help them solve a problem. The story about the Pharisees asking Jesus if they should pay taxes to the Emperor is a good example. This same question came up in one of the Christian communities and the apostles settled the dispute by recalling Jesus' his own response in a similar situation.

Sometimes, the Christians use stories about Jesus to convince others he really was the Messiah. And in the Acts of the Apostles, we find that they used a short synopsis of Jesus' life to persuade nonbelievers to repent of their sins, accept Jesus as Lord, and be baptized. Those who did become Christian then studied Jesus' life and teaching in more detail.

Early Christians also repeated certain stories when they celebrated the sacraments. For example, they told the story of the wedding at Cana out whenever Christians married. They sometimes recalled accounts of miraculous healings when the Christian community anointed and prayed for someone who was sick, especially when that person have the same sickness as someone Jesus healed.

There are two likely reasons why the early Christians preserved the story in today's Gospel. In this reading, Jesus commands the apostles to recruit and baptize disciples from throughout the world. The early church recalled the story at baptisms but also used it to settle heated debates.

We know from the Acts of the Apostles and from some Epistles that the early Christians originally preached only to the Jews. As Paul began preaching the Gospel to the Gentiles, some of the Jews objected to his efforts. When Paul brought this matter to the attention of the Apostles, they recalled that Jesus commanded them to go into the world and make disciples of all nations. This helped to settle the dispute and the early Christians eventually excepted the Gentiles into the church.

Today's Gospel ends wit Jesus promising to be with us always. Find a quiet spot and for a few minutes try to relax and block out all that is in your mind. Focus on Jesus' presence. Make this a daily habit and you'll soon be more where of Jesus working in your life.

This weekend marks the final weekend that Fr. Sylvester will be with us before his return to Nigeria. St. Benedict parishioners have been very generous to Fr. Sylvester's request for contributions for his continued family and pastoral ministry. I hope that all of you have read his letter in the bulletins over the past few weeks. I am deeply grateful for Fr. Sylvester's presence this past year, particularly in light of my absence from the parish responding to the Ghost Ship Fire this past December. Thank you once again, Fr. Sylvester, for your ministry here over these past few months. Abundant blessings and best wishes to you on your future endeavor.

Next week is Pentecost Sunday, often referred to as the birthday of the church. It is also a time when we acknowledge the power and presence of the Holy Spirit in our midst. The traditional color of this feast is RED, so you are invited to don your best red clothing in celebration of Pentecost Sunday.

Members of the newly-configured St. Benedict Parish Pastoral Council will be installed on Pentecost Sunday. We will ask God's blessings upon the following parishioners in their new leadership role in the parish: Parish Pastoral Planning: Dr. Chiquita Tuttle, Chair/Facilitator; Dionne Cola, Vice Chair/ Assistant Facilitator; Leonard Pete, Meeting Recorder; Members - Ariana Catherine, Sidney Fernandes, Jules Garibaldi, Romel Lucas, Emma Morton, Linda Smith, Jaylynn St. Julian, Tara Sykes and Ofelia Wanzo. Blessings to all of you for your willingness to serve!

This weekend we commemorate Memorial Day, where we honor and remember the sacrifices made on our behalf by those who have paid the ultimate price in defense of our country. We surround their families and friends with our love, prayer and support as they continue to mourn the loss of their loved ones during times of armed conflict. So as you enjoy this weekend and the unofficial beginning of the summer season, please remember the reason for this holiday, and bring to your thoughts and prayers those who lost their lives serving in combat throughout the history of the United States.

God bless,
Fr. Jayson
