FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

The oral traditions were interpretations of the laws God gave to Moses on Mount Sinai, which explain how the Jews were to apply the laws in every day life. At first, the rabbis did not write down these interpretations but pass them on by word-of-mouth.

By Jesus' time, some of the scribes who belonged to one group of Pharisees considered the oral traditions as important as the laws themselves, so they taught that a person who wanted to be holy have to follow both the 613 oral traditions and the laws in Sacred Scriptures. All people who failed to observe them, even those who didn't know what they were and those who accidentally broke one, were sinners.

Some oral traditions outline how Jews were to wash their hands before eating a meal and spelled out in detail such things as which direction they should point their fingers when they poured water over them, how much water they should use, and the type of container they should store the water in. Overlooking nothing, who are all traditions he even gave an exact step-by-step procedure describing how one hand he should wash the other!

Anyone who did not observe these oral traditions were ritually unclean. This did not mean the person was dirty, but it did prevent the person from taking part in any formal religious worship. And a clean person had to go through even more rituals to be cleansed of the impurities.

One could also become and clean by coming in contact with something touched by an unclean person. So pious Jews sprinkled food they purchased in the marketplace with water because they didn't know who touched it. They also washed plates, cups, drugs, and utensils in a special way before using them.

In today's Gospel, Jesus objects to these oral traditions because they became more important than how one treated family and friends. Jesus points out that being hateful, or gossipy, or adulterous is much more serious than failing to properly wash hands or utensils before eating. We don't find holiness in a ritual but in how we treat each other.

We can't go to church each Sunday, perform the proper ritual, and then hate our neighbor the rest of the week. Take time today to examine how we treat others. Is there anyone whom we treat poorly? Let's make an effort this week to get along better with that person.

I am writing this while on my annual canonical priest retreat with about 50 priests of the Diocese of Oakland at the Sisters of the Holy Names retreat and conference center in Santa Cruz, Villa Maria Del Mar, right on the beach. I know many of you have been here, since your St. Benedict parish retreats have been held here in years past.

This weekend, we will honor Mr. Rufus Fisher with the Diocesan Medal of Merit. I had asked and recommended to Bishop Michael Barber that Mr. Fisher be awarded this distinguished honor in recognition of his many years of service to the parish and the Diocese of Oakland. I will present the medal to Rufus at the 11:00 AM Mass this Sunday, and we will have a reception in his honor following the liturgy. September 1st is also his birthday, so we honor Rufus in that context as well! Congratulations, Mr. Fisher!

A reminder that Fr. Aris Martin, SVD, will be away for five months to assist in caring for his mother, who is seriously ill and in failing health back in the Philippines. Please continue to hold Fr. Aris and his family in your thoughts and prayers. Fr. Vince Cotter, our new retired priest in residence at St. Benedict, will be helping out with liturgies in Fr. Aris' absence. We anticipate Fr. Aris' return sometime in the early part of 2018.

One of the most discussed topics on the priest retreat this past has been clergy abuse crisis within the Catholic Church, particularly as it relates to three areas: the recently-released Pennsylvania Grand Jury Report on sexual abuse by priests within the Catholic dioceses of the state; the resignation from the College of Cardinals and the removal of canonical faculties from retired Washington, DC Archbishop Theodore Cardinal McCarrick; comments by Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò, former Apostolic Nuncio (Vatican Ambassador) to the United States, directly criticizing Pope Francis regarding accusations against Cardinal McCarrick.

Just to let you know where I stand in all of this. My childhood best friend was sexually abused by a trusted priest (of the Diocese of Oakland) when we were growing up at St. Joseph the Worker parish in Berkeley. For seven years, I was a member of the Diocese of Oakland's outreach efforts to survivors of clergy sexual abuse, "No More Secrets", and I met twice a month with those abused by priests. I've been on a survivor retreat, although I have not been abused. I consider myself pretty informed on this issue, and sensitized to the needs of survivors. I would like to schedule some time for us to discuss this as a parish community. I am hoping to do so within the next couple of weeks.

I will be gone this week - I will be serving as chaplain on the West Coast Post Trauma retreat, a program dedicated to addressing the needs of First Responders who have been traumatized and are suffering from post-traumatic stress disorders (PTSD) as a result of their work as police officers, fire fighters or paramedics. This Sunday afternoon to Friday afternoon.

Have a blessed and restful Labor Day weekend!

God bless,
Fr. Jayson Landeza
