LITURGY CORNER

Sunday doesn't take a holiday

While most of us do take some kind of vacation in the summer, the church's liturgy goes on. IT is Ordinary Time. This does not mean ordinary as in common, but it means 'ordered' as in the Sundays are ordered or numbered. Each Sunday continues to be a little Easter. For this to happen, all the ministries must continue on as usual: especially lectors, Eucharistic ministers and music ministers. The Pastoral Notes of the Canadian Bishops previously stated: "A high quality of liturgical celebration should be maintained throughout Ordinary Time. Consistent patterns of celebration involving both the assembly and its ministers should be in place for the entire liturgical year. Music is an integral part of every Sunday celebrations. Parishes need to ensure that festive song is continued throughout the summer months." We have worked hard to do this at St. Basil's.
