Dear family,

When it comes to perception, we have to understand that Jesus is not, as some make of him, a feel good figure who exists to please people. He stands on certain convictions, very healing convictions, nevertheless He stands for them regardless of public opinion. However, we need to know that Our Lord will never intentionally be cruel. This being the case, how are we to understand his conversation with the people admiring the beauty of the temple. In other words, if Our Lord was not simply trying to project anger on a person's day, then why the rant about the end times? The answer is simple: appearances matter little and our we should never define our safety by anything other than our relationship with God. It might seem strange or as if Our Lord is being sarcastic when he describes an apocalyptic scene and then encourages us to persevere. Instead, Jesus is teaching us that while we may be carried away by the environment around us, we should never base our lives on that constantly changing environment, but only on where our heart lies with Him. This world may always have the ability to steal the gaze of our senses, but only God's will can satisfy our need for meaning, peace, truth, and love. So persevere through the changes, because His love will never change.

In His joy,

Rev. Fr. Daniel Gutierrez

ST. PHILOMENA ADORATION CHAPEL

An alternative to a Mass intention is to purchase 6 candles for the Chapel. These candles are perpetually lit for one week. The candles burn close to our Lord on the altar. Intentions can be in memory of a loved one, a special request, or in thanksgiving to our Lord.

Year of Mercy Corner

In a week we celebrate the close of the Jubilee Year of Mercy. From my perspective as a priest I look back at this year and it was divine providence that our Holy Father decided to make it happen. So many people are returning to the sacraments, discovering or rediscovering their Catholic faith, and countless hearts have been transformed for the better. All of this because we have highlighted a truth about God which is always present: His unconditional love and mercy. That being the case, don't stop! Just as when one celebrates a life in a particular way on a birthday or anniversary, nothing states that we should therefore stop the celebration in our appreciation of these great gifts. Continue to proclaim His great mercy by your lives!
