Did you know?

Did you know that while there are similarities among all priests, priests may have different roles and live different forms of life. I, for instance, am a diocesan priest. This means I am enrooted especially for the Archdiocese of Santa Fe, our local church. My obedience promised at ordination was to Archbishop Sheehan and his successors. Diocesan priests for the most part get assignments within the confines of their diocese.

Our primary orientation of service (every vocation has one), is to people we are assigned to in our parish or associated with our role. Every diocese, while belonging to the universal Church under the Holy Father, has a good amount of autonomy. Each bishop of a diocese has the ability within the confines of Church law to lead his people as he sees fit. Each diocese is meant to mirror the Universal Church in unity as we are all one faith community in union with our bishop, who represent Christ! Remember that our Church is much bigger than our own parish and our whole diocese needs our support.

- Fr. Daniel

"For it has been reported to me about you, my brothers and sisters, by Chloe's people, that there are rivalries among you.

I mean that each of you is saying,

"I belong to Paul," or "I belong to Apollos," or "I belong to Cephas," or "I belong to Christ."

Is Christ divided?

Was Paul crucified for you?

Or were you baptized in the name of Paul?

For Christ did not send me to baptize but to preach the gospel, and not with the wisdom of human eloquence, so that the cross of Christ might not be emptied of its meaning." - St. Paul

Dear family,

While sad to admit, we humans are perfectly capable of taking a good thing and ruining it so that we may not even recognize our situation as the same as we started with. Such is the case with our wonderful Church that God has given us: in petty arguments and division we take the beautiful bride of Christ and she becomes unrecognizably marred in our little wars. We learn in our second reading that this is not a new reality. From the very beginning the Church has suffered when her members decide to make unnecessary divisions hurting the necessary unity and harmony within the Body of Christ. I would be remiss in my role if I did not address the division that currently plagues our Church. From the parish level to the universal level, some have deemed it necessary to express their opinions recklessly on Facebook. From criticizing the Holy Father, to one's bishop, to one's pastor, and even to one's fellow parishioner. This is a huge problem and it lies not in that people disagree with one another, but that we hurt out unity and lack charity while hurting people's faith when this is done. Have we gotten so full of ourselves that we think our opinion needs to be expressed all the time and every time. If it were not for God, we would not even have breath to speak, so we need to mind our tongues and be careful. There is more at stake than we may always realize. Let us learn to live in harmony of one heart and mind, not in conformity but in loving unity and the people of God.

In His joy,

Reverend Father Daniel J. Gutierrez
