Pastor's Corner

Dear family,

“Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.” Talking with many of our parishioners and my own friends and family it seems as if everyone is feeling a shift in the world. Anxiety is at a new high among the youth and others find themselves unnerved because they don't recognize the world anymore or are afraid of what we are facing. Politics continues to be a subject invoking anger and now even violent rage and not a few weeks goes by without the report of yet another tragic and heartbreaking mass shooting. We may very well feel as if we are living in an apocalyptic world, but Jesus gives us an important reminder today, He is in charge and He is our hope! Painting for us a world where nearly anything is familiar, Our Lord reminds us that His words do not pass away or become old. I with am one who is tired of the violence, the tension and the anger. We must remember that the Words of God are what once created this world and alone can recreate it. In trying to make sense of the chaos that surrounds us and in trying to be some light in the world, let us not forget that this mission and the power to accomplish it ultimately comes from God. In this time, when many of us are feeling defeated, we need to remind ourselves that it is not only about us, but about what God has done in the past and what He is able to do now with our cooperation. Do not grow weary dear family, even the nighttime of our own struggles is as not enough to overcome His goodness.

In His joy, Fr. Daniel
