Divine Worship

Dear Parishioners,

Continuing from Archdiocesan Liturgical Handbook (ALH) Chapter 1D states:

Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion

Section 1.21.1: “Bishops, priests, and deacons distribute Holy Communion by virtue of their office as ordinary ministers of the Body and Blood of the Lord. In every celebration of the Mass there should be a sufficient number of ordinary ministers for Holy Communion so that it can be distributed in an orderly and reverent manner within a reasonable space of time.”⁷⁷

Section 1.21.2: “When the size of the congregation or the incapacity of the bishop, priest, or deacon truly requires it, the celebrant may be assisted by other ordained ministers. If such ordinary ministers of Holy Communion are not present, ‘the priest may call upon extraordinary ministers to assist him, i.e., formally instituted acolytes or even some of the faithful who have been commissioned according to the prescribed rite. In case of necessity, the priest may also commission suitable members of the faithful for the occasion.’⁷⁸ With proper planning it should normally be possible to avoid any kind of improvisation, with its accompanying risks.”

Section 1.21.3: “This function is to be understood strictly according to the name by which it is known, that is to say, that of ‘extraordinary minister of Holy Communion’, and not ‘special minister of Holy Communion’, nor ‘extraordinary minister of the Eucharist’ nor ‘special minister of the Eucharist,’ nor ‘Eucharistic Ministers’ by which names the meaning of this function is unnecessarily and improperly broadened.”⁷⁹

Section 1.21.4: “When recourse is had to extraordinary ministers of Holy Communion, especially in the distribution of Communion under both species, their number should not be increased beyond what is required for the orderly and reverent distribution of the Body and Blood of the Lord.”⁸⁰
