GUILLERMO BRUZATORI, ASST. DIR. RELIGIOS ED./ DIR. ASIST. DE ED. RELIGIOSA

Mateo 2:1-12 He aquí uno de los episodios más bellos de la infancia de Jesús, que ha cautivado la imaginación de creyentes y no creyentes, así como de teólogos, pintores y poetas: el homenaje de los magos. ¿Qué quiere contar el evangelista? ¿Un acontecimiento histórico, una leyenda, una reflexión teológica dramatizada o quizá un poco de todo? A través de los tiempos, la gente ha leído en las estrellas acontecimientos decisivos de la historia. También la cultura bíblica escudriñó en las estrellas el evento importante al que tendría la historia de Israel: el nacimiento del Mesías. Según una idea común en la antigüedad, el nacimiento de grandes personas era anunciado por un signo especial. La secta de Qumran había incluso confeccionado un horóscopo. En el libro de Números, el profeta astrólogo Balaán contempla en el firmamento cómo avanza la constelación de Jacob y sube el cetro de Israel. La palabra griega para magos podría referirse a sacerdotes de la religión persa o a toda clase de personas dotadas de poderes. En este horizonte de historia y leyenda, el evangelista proyecta esta meditación en forma de relato escenificado que contiene ya en germen todo lo que nos dirá a lo largo del evangelio.

Matthew 2:1-12 Here is one of the most beautiful episodes in the childhood of Jesus, which has captivated the imagination of believers and non-believers, as well as of theologians, artists, and poets: the homage of the magi. What does the evangelist wish to tell? A historical event, a legend, a dramatized theological reflection, or perhaps a little of everything? Throughout all times, people have read in the stars the decisive events in history. The biblical culture also scrutinized the important event in the stars, which tended to be directed at the history of Israel: the birth of the Messiah. In early times, according to a widely spread idea, the birth of great personalities was announced by a special sign. The Qumran sect had even created a horoscope. In the book of Numbers, the prophet and astrologist, Balaam, contemplates in the firmament how the constellation of Jacob advances and raises the scepter of Israel. The Greek word for magi could refer to priests of the Persian religion or to all types of people who are gifted with powers. In this horizon of history and legend, the evangelist projects this meditation in the form of a staged story that already contains the seed of all that he will tell us throughout the gospel.

FORMED.ORG Watch Opening the Word The Epiphany of the Lord / Mire Abriendo la Palabra La Epifanía del Señor

The magi in today's Gospel had the wisdom and openness to see the light of the star and follow it. They were on watch, just as we were during Advent, and had a heart willing to follow the light that they saw. They set aside the tasks of daily life in order to worship the Messiah. Are we willing to do the same in our own lives? Do we seek Christ, and when we find him, do we worship him and pay him homage?

Los magos en el Evangelio de hoy tenían la sabiduría y la apertura para ver la luz de la estrella y seguirla. Estaban en guardia, tal como estábamos durante el Adviento, y tenían un corazón dispuesto a seguir la luz que vieron. Dejan de lado las tareas de la vida diaria para adorar al Mesías. ¿Estamos dispuestos a hacer lo mismo en nuestras propias vidas? ¿Buscamos a Cristo, y cuando lo encontramos, lo adoramos y le rendimos homenaje?
