Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Theme/Call To Worship

In today's reading, the issue of fear, and specifically the fear of those called by God to preach his word, is put before us as both our consolation and our challenge.

Introduction To The Word

Jeremiah 20:10-13: Jeremiah's complaint that those to whom he preached and ministered had turned against him was a valid one. Yet for all his grouching, the prophet believed in God's abiding presence ("But the Lord is with me"). Therefore he willingly embraced his ministry, offering himself, albeit grudgingly at times, as a guide to fearful people and mobilizing them toward liberation from their sin.

Romans 5:12-15: In the second reading, Paul celebrates the fact of salvation as a gift which forever liberates humankind from the only things deserving of fear: sin, death and separation from God.

Matthew 10:26-33: In today's gospel, Jesus is shown counseling his apostles against exercising their ministry in fear by assuring them of the Father's constant and careful attention to their well-being.

"Faith In Action Talk"

Faith, Perseverance and Daniel's Music

An evening with The Trush Family

In 1997 Daniel Trush, a seemingly typical energetic 12 year-old boy, suffered from the bursting of previously undiagnosed cerebral aneurysms. Doctors told his parents that he would likely not survive, that he would never recover.... Daniel proved them wrong. And so began the incredible journey of the entire Trush family and the founding of an organization called "Daniel's Music Foundation", a non-profit organization for people with disabilities. Join us to hear a parishioner family's personal trials, a journey anchored by their faith, and the joy and healing offered by music. The Trush Family will also share original songs exploring Daniel's faith and relationship with God.
