Calling Upon Young Adults

Heeding the call of Pope Francis for taking young people seriously, the church in America is engaging in a National Dialogue with young Catholics. This effort includes conversations with those who are, and those who are not, practicing the Catholic faith. We need to hear their stories, share the love of Christ with them and learn what we can do as a church, both on the local and national level, to accompany them in their journey and more effectively share with them the beauty, truth and freedom that only Christ offers.

The current research is clear; many youth and young adults are becoming less engaged in and/or are walking away from organized religion. Through these conversations of this National Dialogue, the Church hopes to identify how we might transform our ministry practice to more effectively accompany all youth and young adults in their journey of life and faith and facilitate their growth in becoming missionary disciples, reversing the trend of dis-engagement and disaffiliation.

Help shape the future of the church, young adults, between ages of 18-35, are asked to attend this dialogue meeting!
