Saint of the week: St. Dominic. 1170 – 1221.

(Feast August 8). As a theology student, this Spaniard sold his books to help others during a famine, and later held positions at the Osma Cathedral, where community life followed the Rule of St. Augustine. Dominic and his bishop went to southern France on a papal mission to fight the Albigensian heresy. He remained in Toulouse, as head of a preaching mission that evolved into the Order of Preachers, or Dominicans. Dominic always preferred persuasion to establish orthodoxy and was said by a friar to have "a lively sympathy with any suffering."

Respect Life News: On July 23rd, the Thomas More Law Center (TMLC) based in Ann Arbor, Michigan, "announced.... that in collaboration with Liberty Counsel, a non-profit organization that promotes litigation related to evangelical Christian values, has won a significant legal battle on behalf of Christian pro-life sidewalk counselors sued in a New York federal district court by the New York Attorney General's Office ("OAG"). In a 103-page opinion issued last Friday evening, U.S. District Judge Carol Bagley Amon rebuked the efforts of the New York Attorney General's Office to silence sidewalk counselors who regularly assembled outside of Choices Women's Medical Center ("Choices"), a Queens abortion clinic, to plead for the lives of the unborn." Richard Thompson, TMLC president and chief counsel explained: In its lawsuit, OAG alleged that the thirteen sidewalk counselors violated federal, state and New York City laws prohibiting the obstruction of abortion facilities, and harassment and intimidation of women who were seeking abortions. It petitioned the federal court to create a sixteen-foot buffer zone around Choices abortion premises and levy fines, attorney fees and compensatory damages against the Defendants. An extensive preliminary injunction hearing was held between February 12 and March 6, 2018. In addition to videos, photographs and other documentary evidence, OAG called seven witnesses and the Defendants called ten witnesses. On May 22, 2018, Judge Amon heard oral arguments on OAG's motion for a preliminary injunction. In her 103-page opinion and order, Judge Amon denied the OAG's motion finding that the OAG had failed to substantiate any of its allegations against the Defendants. The TMLC was founded in 1998 by Richard Thompson, former prosecutor of Oakland County, Michigan, and Thomas S. Monaghan, founder of Domino's Pizza Corporation, and has "nearly 700 attorneys" who work pro bono in every state." Monaghan also founded the Ave Maria School, of law in Naples, Florida and Ave Maria College in Michigan, the predecessor of Ave Maria University in the planned town of Ave Maria, Florida. The TMLC's website reads, in part: "The Thomas More Law Center defends and promotes America's Judeo-Christian heritage and moral values, including the religious freedom of Christians, time-honored family values, and the sanctity of human life. It supports a strong national defense and an independent and sovereign United States of America. The Law Center accomplishes its mission through litigation, education, and related activities. It does not charge for its services. The Law Center is supported by contributions from individuals, corporations and foundations, and is recognized by the IRS as a section 501(c)(3) organization. Their phone number is (734) 827-2001; their website is www.thomasmore.org.
