THE MUSINGS OF THE PASTOR

Cardinal Séan O'Malley, OFM Cap., Archbishop of Boston, is also the President of the Pontifical Commission for the Protection of Minors. In his most recent blog Cardinal O'Malley issued a statement to mark the publication of Vos estis lux mundi, an Apostolic Letter by Pope Francis on May 7, 2019. After an international summit held in Rome earlier this year, Pope Francis promised that there would be "concrete measures" to respond to the clergy sexual abuse crisis in the Church. Pope Francis and others consider it one means of fulfilling that promise to establish specific mandatory protocols and reporting systems for matters concerning such abuse. I want to present Cardinal O'Malley's remarks posted on the Archdiocese of Boston website on May 10, 2019. There he welcomed the Apostolic Letter. I consider him a very important and trustworthy voice when he comments about the sad and painful issue facing the church in the United States and indeed over all the world.

Following the international summit in Rome this past February, Pope Francis pledged "concrete measures" to respond to the clergy sexual abuse crisis in the United States. Vos estis lux mundi is one means of fulfilling that pledge, establishing specific mandatory protocols and reporting mechanisms for matters concerning such abuse.

This document directly addresses needed improvements to the Church's response by requiring all dioceses in every country around the globe, within one year's time, to establish a public, accessible and reliable system for reporting crimes of clergy sexual abuse and any cover up of abuse. It also requires the establishment of new procedural norms for investigating crimes by bishops and supreme moderators of religious institutes, including both allegations of sexual abuse and any cover up by way of actions or omissions intended to conceal information or to interfere with investigations.

These new norms address the sexual abuse of minors and they also expand the definition of the "vulnerable persons" who suffer abuse. But it is also quite significant that Vos estis lux mundi includes adults who suffer offenses through violence or intimidation or the abuse of authority. People who suffer abuse from those in positions of authority can include, for example, seminarians and religious.

It is notable and of great importance that the new provisions require that information be given to the victim of an alleged offense regarding investigations and, further, that the Holy Father places particular emphasis on lay persons participating in the investigations.

During the past year it has become far more clear that the people of the Church and our wider society rightfully demand substantive action for disclosure, transparency, and accountability with regard to any occurrence of sexual abuse, or intimidation, or cover up in the life of the Church and that that all Church personnel, regardless of office, be subject to the same policies, procedures and sanctions. Vos estis lux mundi is an important and substantive response to that demand. I am grateful to the Holy Father for his recognition of the critical need for these new policies and his action to as best possible assure the protection of all the people we serve throughout the world.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Am I willing to put others before myself? How can I show this love for my sisters and brothers?

THE MUSINGS OF THE PASTOR (continued)

You can access the text of Cardinal's Séan's blot at: <http://www.cardinalseansblog.com>. You want to look for the May 10, 2019 entry "Celebrating confirmations." The Archdiocese of Washington has prepared a fact sheet of questions and answers regarding Pope Francis's Motu Proprio Vos estis lux mundi. I list a couple of the questions and answers in the remainder of this column. I'll go over the rest of the questions in next week's column.

- 1) What does the new Motu Proprio do? The new Motu Proprio Vos estis lux mundi is a significant move forward for the universal Church, one that echoes many of the practices established in the Essential Norms and the Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People that have been in force in the United States since 2002. For example it affirms the existing:
 - Commitment to provide for the spiritual and emotional well-being of victims/survivors and their families;
 - Duty to comply with all applicable civil laws with respect to the reporting of allegations and sexual abuse of minors to civil authorities;
 - Right of any person to report such crimes;
 - Guarantee of a prompt and objective investigation;
 - Assurance of lay involvement.
- 2) The Motu Proprio also continues to focus on victims by significantly building upon existing local practices, for example by expanding:
 - The scope of case to include:
 - The sexual abuse of a new classification of "vulnerable persons,"
 - The use of violence or other abuse of power to perform or submit to sexual acts,
 - Any cover up of such conduct by others;
 - Those who are to be reported for such cases, namely, cardinals, bishops, other clerics, religious superiors, and other members of institutes of consecrated life or societies of apostolic life;
 - Reporting obligations to include mandatory, internal reporting;
 - Safeguards against retaliation or discrimination by mandating "whistle-blower" protection.

Until next week,
Fr. John

PARISHIONERS REHABILITATE A HOME IN ROCKVILLE, PARISH GROUNDS AS PART OF REBUILDING TOGETHER

On April 27, two dozen St. Francis of Assisi parishioners and friends took part in their 16th annual Rebuilding Together National Project Day, helping to rehabilitate a home in Rockville and clean up the parish grounds. Approximately 15 veteran volunteers worked at the home, repairing and repainting the exterior foundation of the house; installing a water drainage system from the gutters; repairing a fence around the yard; repairing and re-hanging sagging kitchen cabinets; repairing bathroom walls and ceiling; caulking and painting bathroom fixtures; cutting and trimming tree limbs; and cleaning the deck, outside table and chairs. An additional nine volunteers lent their talents at the parish grounds, restoring a broken staircase to better-than-new condition; grooming, reconditioning and mulching the Stations of the Cross area; clearing walkways of fallen limbs and hazardous debris; and raking and cleaning up other areas that needed attention. Mike Rogewitz, who has served as the Rebuilding Together House Captain for the past five years, said "When this work is done, it's obvious we are improving the lives of the recipients. The recipients are grateful to the point of tears and it's very gratifying to see what a difference we're making."

SOLEMNITY OF THE ASCENSION OF THE LORD

SPRING MINISTRY RETREAT INVITED SHARING ON HOW TO DEEPEN ONE'S SPIRITUAL LIFE

Eighteen St. Francis of Assisi ministry leaders gathered May 4 in the Parish Center to discuss ways they could deepen their daily spiritual lives, both as ministry coordinators and as lay Catholics. Tom Stehle, pastoral associate for liturgy and director of music at the Cathedral of St. Matthew the Apostle, led the discussion which had three goals: to discover ways to enrich participants' spiritual lives, to learn what motivates us in our desire to serve the Body of Christ; and to find ways to share our love of Christ and commitment to spread the good news to others.

The participants shared throughout the session, particularly in discussing the Lectio Divina, a practice of scriptural reading, meditation and prayer intended to promote communion with God and to increase one's knowledge of God's word, and The Daily Examen, a technique of prayerfully reflecting on the day's events to detect God's presence and to discern his direction for us.

Mark your calendars for the Fall Ministry Retreat, which will be held Oct. 12, 2019. Dr. Susan Timoney of Catholic University will reflect with us on Pope Francis' call to evangelization using the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops' document, "Living as Missionary Disciples." For more information, contact Director of Social Concerns and Adult Faith Formation Tony Bosnick at abosnick@sfadw.org.
