As Ordinary Time Continues... we pause to celebrate one more of our core beliefs—the Feast of the Body and Blood of Christ. The Eucharist has been called the summit of the sacraments. Just as our Jewish ancestors celebrated the Sabbath, so too, we celebrate the Eucharist. It is our tradition that we come together in community each weekend to celebrate. We give thanks for handling the tasks of the past week and ask for the courage and strength to deal with the upcoming week. We come together in Eucharist to say our goodbyes and with gratitude as we send our loved ones back to the Father. As we ponder Corpus Christi this weekend, we might think about the part—and how important a part—it plays in our life and in the lives of our family. God’s Blessings!
