The Inside Shows

In this third reading from the Sermon on the Plain, Jesus speaks of the inner soul and its outer expression. He uses images as he teaches. He addresses all of us.

Jesus sees a plumb line connecting the soul with the soul's expression—words and actions. He uses exaggeration to drive home his point. We are urged to clear out the debris that blinds us. He knows that we have an uncanny ability to be blind to our own weaknesses, though they be as big as a board. He knows, too, how willingly we seem to ferret out others' smallest speck-like flaws.

And this, too, is for our general consumption; solid old goodness and solid old badness will show eventually. The old Latin saying, which echoes Jesus' images, is true: "What is bred in the bone will out in the flesh." By and by, the inside will show through.

Set your clocks forward 1 hour before going to bed Saturday night, March 9

Things to Remember for Lent

For Lent, the Church gives us almost a slogan—Prayer, Fasting and Almsgiving—as the three things we need to work on during the season. Lent is essentially an act of prayer spread out over 40 days. As we pray, we go on a journey, one that hopefully brings us closer to Christ and leaves us changed by the encounter with him.

With the fasts of Ash Wednesday and Good Friday, meatless Fridays, and our personal disciplines interspersed, Lent is the only time many Catholics these days actually fast. And maybe that is why it gets all the attention. "What are you giving up for Lent? Hotdogs? Beer? Jelly beans?" It is almost a game for some of us, but fasting is actually a form of penance, which helps us turn away from sin and toward Christ. The 40 days of Lent are also a good, set time to work on personal discipline in general. Instead of giving something up, it can be doing something positive. "I'm going to exercise more. I'm going to pray more. I'm going to be nicer to my family, friends and coworkers."

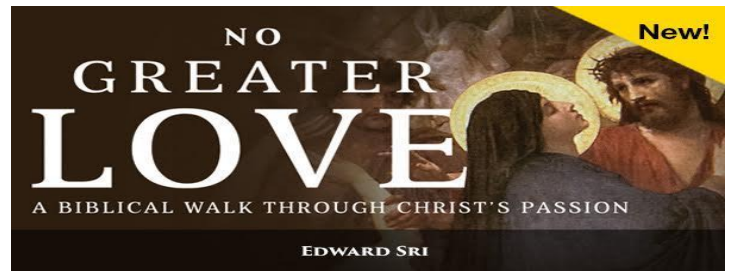

The more serious side of Lenten discipline is that it is about more than self-control – it is about finding aspects of yourself that are less than Christ-like and letting them die. The suffering and death of Christ are foremost on our minds during Lent, and we join in these mysteries by suffering, dying with Christ and being resurrected in a purified form.

The Difference - The difference between perseverance and obstinacy is that one often comes from a strong will, and the other from a strong won't.—Henry Ward Beecher

Please join us for this five-part video series with accompanying book. Meetings at Sts. Peter & Paul will be on Sunday evenings during Lent beginning March 10 and ending on Palm Sunday. If you did not sign up and wish to attend, contact Vic Perez as soon as possible.

It is tempting to make Lent some ambitious period of personal reinvention, but it is best to keep it simple and focused. There is a reason the Church works on these mysteries year after year. We spend our entire lives growing closer to God. Do not try to cram it all in one Lent. That is a recipe for failure.

Of course, even when we set simple goals for ourselves during Lent, we still have trouble keeping them. When we fast, we realize we are all just one meal away from hunger. In both cases, Lent shows us our weakness.

When we are confronted with our own weakness during Lent, the temptation is to get angry and frustrated. "What a bad person I am!" But that is the wrong lesson. God is calling us to be patient and to see ourselves as he does, with unconditional love. As we experience weakness and suffering during Lent, we should be renewed in our compassion for those who are hungry, suffering or otherwise in need. The third part of the Lenten formula is almsgiving. It is about more than throwing a few extra dollars in the collection plate; it is about reaching out to others and helping them without question as a way of sharing the experience of God's unconditional love.

Lent is a journey through the desert to the foot of the cross on Good Friday, as we seek him out, ask his help, join in his suffering, and learn to love like him.
