

DO YOU HAVE A TWITTER ACCOUNT?

Bishop Tobin had one and he 'twitted' last week"

"Sadly, Twitter has become a major distraction for me, on good days and bad, an obstacle to my spiritual life, an occasion of sin for me and others"

"So good bye.

If I've offended anyone, I'm truly sorry. If I've helped anyone along the way, thank God."

Did you know that Bishop Tobin had a twitter account? I didn't. Not that I know much about that. I don't.

His reason for beginning to 'twitter' some time ago (when?) was "to teach us, his people as a bishop should." The bishop wrote: "It helps my people to get to know me a little better from a human point of view." "I think it's a way of connecting with each other." (I tweet, you tweet.)

Within a few hours some hundred-thousand tweeted the bishop. AMAZING.! There were 6,100 people following Tobin's account, according to the Associated Press.

For that reason Bishop Tobin raised his hands and declared: "I GIVE UP."

Your pastor tried something like that a year ago and soon like the bishop GAVE UP. Too much. Not enough time to stay on top of it. Your pastor's 'thing' was not via a twitter account but via an e-mail account. Even that was 'too much.'

However, your pastor did not completely 'give up.' It may be subtle but it's there, 'trying to communicate with you.'

It was there in last Sunday's Bulletin reminding you of the teaching of the Church on 'birth control' on that day the 50th Anniversary of Humanae Vitae.

It was like that he was hoping that you would talk to him about it.
