The Fruits of the Spirit

These are the nine qualities of the fruit of the Spirit:

Love Regarding others as more important than ourselves. A willingness to meet the needs of those around us, even when we will get nothing in return. To be extended to everyone, even enemies.

Joy An attitude of gladness or contentment resulting from the deep-down confidence that no matter what we may be going through, God's is firmly in control. Not to be confused with giddiness or "surface" happiness.

Peace The calm assurance that God's will for our lives is good, acceptable and perfect. Since Jesus is the Prince of Peace, depending on Him to meet every situation through the Holy Spirit in us.

Patience Recognizing and accepting that God's timetable may be different from ours. Waiting, as did the apostles, for God's power and go-ahead before taking action.

Kindness Responding to others with the understanding that they struggle and hurt just as we do. Recognizing that others need to see God's love through our actions toward them.

Goodness Diligently desiring to do good things for other people, even before we're asked or expected to do so. Taking action so others can see God's love for them through us.

Faithfulness Keeping our promises. Doing what we say we will do. Being consistent day in and day out. Being loyal to God and those He has placed in our lives.

Gentleness Treating others with a proper sensitivity according to their physical, mental, emotional and spiritual needs.

Self-control The opposite of losing control. Holding ourselves together during trying times and responding to circumstances and people according to our determined choices. Not giving control to our passions or sinful desires.
