THIS WEEK'S REFLECTIONS

Grant us, we pray, O Lord our God, the constant gladness of being devoted to You, for it is full and lasting happiness to serve with constancy the author of all that is good. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son, who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Today's Mass Readings

1st reading: Daniel 12:1-3
2nd reading: Hebrews 10:11-14, 18
Gospel: Mark 13:24-32

Responsorial Psalm Meditation

Ps 16:5, 8-11

The First Reading and the Gospel speak of the era of tribulation, that era in human history when the forces of good and the forces of evil will be locked in mortal combat.

At that time, God will send His protection upon those who have professed His cause.

This Responsorial Psalm is a profession of faith in that providence. We can always trust that God will protect us from all that would seek to lead us astray.

While apocalyptic books tend to speak of a great period of tribulation, one could argue that every era is a period of tribulation.

In every era we are called to give witness to our faith, something that always requires trust and surrender.

PRAYER FOR OUR NATION

We pray You, O God of might, wisdom, and justice, through whom authority is rightly administered, laws are enacted, and judgment decreed, assist with Your Holy Spirit of counsel and fortitude the President of the United States, that his administration may be conducted in righteousness, and be eminently useful to Your people, over whom he presides; by encouraging due respect for virtue and religion; by a faithful execution of the laws in justice and mercy; and by restraining vice and immorality.

Let the light of Your divine wisdom direct the deliberations of Congress, and shine forth in all the proceedings and laws frame for our rule and government, so that they may tend to the preservation of peace, the promotion of national happiness, the increase of industry, sobriety, and useful knowledge; and may perpetuate to us the blessing of equal liberty. We recommend likewise, to Your unbounded mercy, all our fellow citizens throughout the United States, that we may be blessed in the knowledge and sanctified in the observance of Your most holy law; that we may be preserved in union, and in that peace which the world cannot give; and after enjoying the blessings of this life, be admitted to those which are eternal. Amen.
