

Prophecies for the 45th Southwest Catholic Charismatic Conference
July 26 – 28, 2019

-Friday evening

I have an invitation to come to me, come as you are, I call you my children for that is what you are. Give me your hearts, so I can fill them with my love and take that love to those around you. For there are so many that are hurting, so many are sick, stay close to me and know that I am close to you. For I will never leave you nor forsake you. You are my beloved children be not afraid when the storms of life come your way. I will call the storms for I have come to give you life.

Come my little ones, turn away from the things that draw.

O my beloved children, how I rejoice in the fact that you are here this weekend. Expect miracles, wonders and signs. I will pour out blessings upon you, that you will not be able to contain. I have so many gifts I want to bless you with. So many, if only you would open your heart and trust me completely with your family, your finances, your health, your relationships. I am more than able to meet your needs more than you can imagine. I am Almighty God. I can do all things, put your trust in me for I am the God of the Universe. I will bless you with all the gifts of the Holy Spirit. I will pour out my Spirit on you and your family, on all who seek me. Return to me while I can be found.

Saturday

Come to me my little ones, turn away from things that draw you away from me. I stand before you, come while there is still time. I have redeemed you from your sins. I died to set you free, you are no longer in bondage. I have set you free! Receive that forgiveness through the shedding of my blood.

Sunday

Rejoice, rejoice, I have made your overcomers. The baby steps are over. Run, I have given you a renewed Spirit. Empowered in my love and the grace to do all things. Be not afraid, I am with you. There is no other God.

There is a river flowing with God's abundance and provision for all of his children. Come to the river of God's presence and receive all that you need.

My faithful people, my heart rejoices that you are here to praise and worship me. You who have come here with worries of mind, body and soul. Know that I love you. Ask and you shall receive. I am your faithful father. I will grant you the desires of your heart.