Father's Reflection

DO YOU DOUBT? .. I DO!

Doubt has to do with one's belief. When it comes to belief, not just religious belief but any kind of belief, most people fall into one of 3 groups: gullible, critical, and skeptical. Do you know to which of these you belong? The gullible are those that require very little evidence to believe, and practically accept any statement as true even those that are extravagant or fantastic. The skeptic is the opposite. They mistrust people, ideas, statements, etc., in general and almost on principle. They doubt everything and everyone. Fortunately, most people fall into the group situated in between extremes.. hope so! Many of us are inclined to trust others up to a certain point but require a minimum evidence or explanation.

Jesus expected us to be critical in His teaching. He didn't expect people to accept Him and His teaching naively. He constantly appealed our personal experience, our judgment, our opinion. After all, we are covenant partners doing our responsibility as best as we can.

Today's gospel reading presents an extreme skeptic, Thomas. As such, he is not a monster or a freak. In fact, he represents all of those, who like him, are by nature and temperament suspicious of everyone and everything. And in that connection, it is interesting to observe how Jesus deals with this sort of people. Jesus accepts them as they are. Thomas demands to examine the marks of His wounds. Well and good...not a big deal! With utter meekness, Jesus submits to the tests imposed by Thomas. Only after Thomas drops his unreasonable demands, does Jesus gently chide him. Oh what an amazing rebuke which showed Jesus' person as gentle, mild, and indirect that it is hardly felt as he said 'Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed.' What an inspiring reminder for all of us.. indeed, WE ARE BLESSED!

Let this welcoming attitude of Jesus toward us, who doubt, be the guiding principle in our relationship with one another. Doubt is good but must not exclude a sense of wonder and an openness to mystery.
