

Mrs. Mazur is one of the most appreciated, and kind teachers at Saint Charles Borromeo School. You might know her by her former name, Ms. Tabor. She was married on August 19, 2018 at Brandywine Falls. She had a chocolate cake with peanut butter frosting as her wedding cake - YUM! Her honeymoon was an eight day cruise to Alaska.

This is her fifth year of teaching. Last year she was teaching the fifth grade A math class with Mrs. Gerity, but now she is teaching the fifth grade B math class. Mrs. Mazur doesn't only like math, she also enjoys a good book. Right now she is reading The Hate You Give by Angie Thomas and Untangled by Lisa Damour. These awesome books were recommended to Mrs. Mazur by Mrs. Bentley.

When asked what she loves about St. Charles Borromeo School, Mrs. Mazur said that she loves her boss and coworkers, and of course loves her students as well. Mrs. Mazur makes sure that her students are comfortable during class. She uses yoga balls, cushions, and she allows them to sit on the floor and use a clipboard for writing, as long as they are being productive. Mrs. Mazur loves that her students are hard working and that they take on challenges. Mrs. Mazur has one piece of advice for her students: "Always be true to yourself even if it's the harder choice". Mrs. Mazur is kind and loving towards her students. She will always try to help them be the best people that they can be and encourages them to use their brain to its full potential.

By Jazlyn Stanton