

“Miss McGhee”, by Kaiden Bruno, published on March 11, 2019

This school year we are happy to welcome back Miss McGhee, who has returned to teach second grade at Saint Charles. She says “[She’s] very excited to be back. Everyone here is like a community. We are like one big family.” She loves her students and the staff here because of the wonderful open and warm welcoming feeling everyone gave her upon returning. One of Miss McGhee’s favorite things about teaching here at Saint Charles is her students’ love for learning, and especially the excitement and joy on their faces when they master or understand a new concept. She wants the best for her students, and wants them to be responsible and hardworking to achieve their goals. One piece of advice she would give her students for the future would be to always believe in yourself.

Miss McGhee went to Strongsville High School and graduated from Kent State University. Some of her favorite things to do in her free time are shopping, hiking, bowling, and reading. Her favorite author is Beverly Cleary. All in all, Miss McGhee loves being here and we love having her! We hope to have her around for many years to come.
