HOPE FOR THE POOR

“The hope that our Church encourages,” said Romero, “is neither naïve nor passive. It is rather a summons from the word of God for the great majority of the people, the poor, that they assume their proper responsibility.... And it is support, sometimes critical support, for their just causes and demands. The hope that we preach to the poor is intended to give them back their dignity, to encourage them to take charge of their own future.”

Sunday’s Reflections
Hebrews 5:1-6

YOUR VOCATION

God has chosen you. You may not always feel it. You may at times feel as though you’re in the wrong place, the wrong job, or the wrong century. But God has chosen to create you here and now. God has given you gifts to face the present and to prepare for the glory of the future.

We often speak of vocations in terms of religious life. Truly, God chooses some people for special ministry. The Letter to the Hebrews speaks about the vocation of Old Testament priesthood as well as the priesthood of Jesus. “Every high priest is taken from among men,” the letter says. It does not say, “Certain men decide to become high priests.” Rather, “No one takes this honor upon himself but only when called by God, just as Aaron was.”

Even Jesus did not glorify himself in becoming a high priest. Instead, God had him in mind with two prophecies from the Book of Psalms: “You are my son: this day I have begotten you;” and “You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.”

It is often easier to see a vocation among religious men and women because their work is totally dedicated to God. But others also have a vocation—in the family, at work, and in society. God has chosen you. God has taken you from among others and placed you in the world now to proclaim the nearness of glory.
