A Reflection on the Gospel from the 2015 Living

Liturgy:

This year the gospel for this Sunday concludes with what is sometimes called the "Great Commission." No other gospel so explicitly refers to the three Persons of the Most Holy Trinity. We hear the very words of the baptismal formula we use today, and no doubt this gospel passage reflects the baptismal practice of the Matthean community some decades after the historical events of Jesus' life, death, resurrection, and ascension. The disciples are sent forth to "all nations" with the authority of Jesus and they reap the rewards of being faithful to Jesus' command and having Jesus always with them.

In this gospel passage for the solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity, Jesus commands the disciples to baptize "in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." Jesus reveals his undivided, divine relationship with the Father when he declares, "All power in heaven and on earth has been given to me." Baptism professes our faith in the Holy Trinity and celebrates our insertion into the intimate, relational life of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

The gospel rather succinctly and clearly lays out the mission with which Jesus charged the disciples (and us) before he ascended into heaven: make disciples, baptize in the name of the Trinity, teach, and observe "all that Jesus has commanded." Jesus can entrust this mission to us because we share in his identity through the power of the Spirit. This identity is the fruit of our fidelity. Has anything more wondrous or greater happened before?
