

September 17, 2017 Twenty-fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time Lectionary: 130 Gospel MT 18:21-35

Peter approached Jesus and asked him, "Lord, if my brother sins against me, how often must I forgive? As many as seven times?" Jesus answered, "I say to you, not seven times but seventy-seven times. That is why the kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who decided to settle accounts with his servants. When he began the accounting, a debtor was brought before him who owed him a huge amount. Since he had no way of paying it back, his master ordered him to be sold, along with his wife, his children, and all his property, in payment of the debt. At that, the servant fell down, did him homage, and said, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back in full.' Moved with compassion the master of that servant let him go and forgave him the loan. When that servant had left, he found one of his fellow servants who owed him a much smaller amount. He seized him and started to choke him, demanding, 'Pay back what you owe.' Falling to his knees, his fellow servant begged him, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back.' But he refused. Instead, he had the fellow servant put in prison until he paid back the debt. Now when his fellow servants saw what had happened, they were deeply disturbed, and went to their master and reported the whole affair. His master summoned him and said to him, 'You wicked servant! I forgave you your entire debt because you begged me to. Should you not have had pity on your fellow servant, as I had pity on you?' Then in anger his master handed him over to the torturers until he should pay back the whole debt. So will my heavenly Father do to you, unless each of you forgives your brother from your heart."

Spiritual Reflection: It seems that the servant in the story acts the way he does because he has become fixated on his inability to repay the loan and on his own weakness instead of being grateful for what his master has done for him. He, therefore tries to make himself feel better by pointing out his fellow servant's debt.

Spiritual Questions

1. Have you ever tried to act tough after doing something embarrassing?
2. How will the man repay his debt if he is thrown into slavery?
3. Why did the man torture the other servant?
4. How does our family pay the price for our sins?
5. How can you take a step toward forgiving someone?
