My Dear Parish Family,

In last week's Gospel, Our Lord Jesus uses a child to illustrate just how precious these "little ones" are to His heart. You see, in the culture and the time in which Jesus walked the earth, children were loved and deemed precious by their families, but they were not considered to be significant or important until they came of age. Being an advocate of children could not and would not impress anyone or improve one's rankings in status. Yet, Jesus insists that if anyone welcomes one of these insignificant individuals in His name, it is as good as welcoming Jesus Himself.

Once again, Jesus has turned the contemporary wisdom on its head. How you treat the one who is least able to enhance your social standing among your peers greatly impacts where you stand with the one who lives forever. When Jesus said, "If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be the last of all and the servant of all." He is suggesting that if you want to climb the ladder of prestige to a position of leadership, your place is not at the top but on the bottom rung.

In this week's Gospel, Our Lord continues to impress upon us just how precious these "little ones" are to Him. We should understand that "little ones" mean not only children but anyone whose faith is fragile or young. These are so precious that if a person were to cause them to sin, well... He leaves it to our imagination by telling us "it would be better for him" to have a millstone as a life preserver than what awaits them in the afterlife. Pretty graphic, don't you think! This sobering warning should not be lost on anyone who is admired and emulated by a "little one."

My dear people, the Scriptures are written in many different styles and genre. Some of the passages are to be understood symbolically, others metaphorically and some quite plainly. This Gospel passage fits most closely in the last category. If someone declares as acceptable an action that is truly evil and persuades those who admire him/her to do the same – they are in serious, serious trouble. They would stand a better chance of surviving a swim across Lake Erie with a millstone than entering heaven.

Yet as stern as this warning is, we know God to be merciful beyond our understanding. St. Paul, when he was known as Saul, did exactly what is described in this Gospel passage. He persecuted the members of the early Church and through his misguided zeal, taught his deputies to do the same. That is why he refers to himself as the greatest of sinners – the greatest of forgiven sinners. Let us heed the stark warning of the Gospel by taking care of the little ones but also pray that we may know that mercy shown to St. Paul.

Peace of Christ,
Deacon Bruce
