*To learn anew the Gospel:
The Good News that God loves us—Then to live it and share it.*

From the Deacon's Bench

Brothers and Sisters,

These past few weeks I've spent a great deal of time reading the self-assessments of the twenty-two men currently in deacon formation. At the end of each year, the men write their own self-assessments and receive written feedback from their pastors. I get all of this information and prepare reports for a review committee, which interviews each man and his wife. After the interviews, I write up a final report on each man for the Archbishop.

OK, so why explain all that? Well, we're about half-way through Ordinary Time, and before we know it, we'll be entering a new Church year with Advent. Maybe this might be a good time to do our own self-assessment. Where are we in our prayer life, our relationship with God? Where are we in our relationships with family and friends? Coworkers? The folks we simply encounter in our day-to-day activities? If we were to write up our own self-assessment and share it with someone close to us, what might they say?

We do the self-assessments in the deacon formation program to provide affirmation and opportunities for growth. Where might we find affirmation? Where might we be open to grow?

Peace,
Dcn. Kerry
