*To learn anew the Gospel:
The Good News that God loves us—Then to live it and share it.*

From the Deacon's Bench

Brothers and Sisters,

Well, it's about 10:45 Tuesday evening as I write this, and I just got home from an evening of scrutinies/reviews with the guys in deacon formation. These are interviews with each man in formation and his wife. I know I touched on the self-assessments they wrote last week, and this is another part of the process. So why write about it?

In these interviews, we are looking for a sense of God calling the man to ordained ministry. And, the question is there for each of us – to what is God calling me? OK, maybe not to ordination, but we are all called to something at different times in our lives – some to marriage – some to parenthood – some to various careers – some to any number of ministries in the Church. So, how do we answer the question, “Where can I use my gifts and talents to further the Church’s mission to spread the Gospel to all the corners of the Earth?” How can each of us live out our parish mission statement, “To learn anew the Gospel: The Good News that God Loves us — Then to live it and share it.”?

It might be worth some reflection as we settle into these weeks of Ordinary Time.

Peace,
Dcn. Kerry

Remember This:

Christians do not think that God will love us because we are good, but that God will make us good because He loves us; just as the roof of a sun-house does not attract the sun because it is bright, but it becomes bright because the sun shines on it. - C.S. Lewis
