Easter Sunday of Lent Reflection – At the end of Mass, we are charged with the daunting task to “go out and live the Gospel by our lives.” Peter reminds us that God commissioned the Apostles to go out and preach about the life of Jesus after His resurrection. By sending down the Holy Spirit, the Apostles were filled with the joy and love of God and sent out to share the Good News. Through our baptism, each one of us has the power and strength to preach the Gospel and live as the Apostles did. We have the power to live the Gospel by imitating the life of Jesus. Jesus went about doing good works. He sought out the poor and the vulnerable. He did not seek a life of luxury, rather He reminded us that we cannot rely on the comforts of this world, but we must remain focused on the world that is to come. We should strive to assist those that are suffering ill, strangers in a new land, or facing poverty. Throughout Lent, you have been encouraged to contribute to the St. Peregrine fund as a means of almsgiving. Lent is over, but this ministry continues. Consider supporting the St. Peregrine Fund throughout the year. For more information, email socmailbox@colsdio.org or call 614-241-2540.

Catechism of the Catholic Church 610: Jesus gave the supreme expression of his free offering of himself at the meal shared with the twelve Apostles “on the night he was betrayed.” On the eve of his Passion, while still free, Jesus transformed this Last Supper with the apostles into the memorial of his voluntary offering to the Father for the salvation of men: “This is my body which is given up for you.” This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins.”
