Feast of the Holy Family

This is a painful feast for so many Catholics, I think. How many of us have the kind of “holy” family we imagined existed a few decades ago (but never really did, in some ways)?

That “holy” family included mom, dad, at least a few kids, and, oh yes, everyone was happily in church on Sunday. The kids went on to marry other Catholics, and those families bore children who were contentedly growing up in the faith.

Somehow we thought that model—whether it was actually working or not—would weather all the cultural upheavals of our lifetimes. It didn’t, of course. Is there a reader today who can say that his/her family has followed this path perfectly?

I know a parish that can break your heart. The scattering of adults who make up the early morning Sunday congregation are as devout and educated as any community you could find. The choir has sung together, consistently, since the sixties.

They are wonderful lectors and religious educators. They’ve graduated from the Catholic Biblical School and Catechetical School. They’ve maintained prayerful and loving, lifelong marriages. And yet there isn’t a family that doesn’t have an adult child on the street, lost amid the homeless population, due to the scourge of drugs and alcohol.

Suicide is at least a monthly event there. Grandparents weep for their unbaptized grandchildren, whom they are raising because their own children are lost.

These are extreme examples of the pain that some Catholic families experience, of course. The challenge for the “average” Catholic family is to trust that God is living and active in the lives of all our loved ones, despite how “active” their faith lives may be.

What are the most holy and happy aspects of your family?

Fiesta de la Sagrada Familia

A mí me parece que esta es una fiesta dolorosa para muchos católicos. ¿Cuántos de nosotros tenemos esa clase de “sagrada” familia que hace años imaginábamos que existía (pero que de alguna forma nunca existió)?

Esa “sagrada” familia incluía una mamá, un papá, al menos algunos niños, ah sí, y todos iban felices a la iglesia los domingos. Los chicos se casaban con otros católicos cuando crecían, y estas otras familias tenían niños que alegremente crecían en la fe.

De alguna forma pensamos que este modelo— aunque realmente a veces no era realista—resistiría todas las turbulencias de nuestras vidas. Por supuesto que no funcionaba así. ¿Acaso existe algún lector hoy que pueda decir que su familia ha seguido este camino a la perfección?

Conozco una parroquia que te rompería el corazón. Los esparcidos adultos quienes asisten a la primera misa del domingo son tan devotos y educados como cualquier otros feligreses que pudieras encontrar.

Los del coro son los mismos que han cantando consistentemente juntos desde los años sesenta.

Son excelentes lectores y educadores religiosos. Se han graduado de la Escuela Bíblica Católica y de la Escuela de Catequesis. Han mantenido sus matrimonios amorosos y devotos por toda una vida. Sin embargo no hay ninguna familia que no tenga un hijo adulto en las calles, perdido entre la población vagabunda, por causa del azote de las drogas y el alcohol.

El suicidio es por lo menos un evento mensual ahí.

Los abuelos lloran por sus nietos no bautizados, a quienes ellos están criando ya que sus propios hijos están perdidos.

Desde luego que estos son los ejemplos extremos del dolor que algunas familias católicas experimentan. El reto para la familia católica “promedio” es el confiar en que Dios está vivo y activo en las vidas de todos nuestros seres queridos, sin importar que tan “activa” sea su vida de fe.

¿Cuáles son los aspectos más sagrados y felices de tu familia?

LIVE THE LITURGY -

Families are complicated systems. They can be the most transforming or the most hurtful of experiences. Our families of origin have a huge claim on who we are and who we will become. While families need to help us fulfill some of our human needs, this cannot be their sole purpose or focus. Healthy and happy families consist of folks who always have their eyes on the needs and best interests of the other individuals who make up their family unit. We live in the greater family of the world, which is also God's family. It can't only be about us. We must focus our gaze on the needs and well-being of our brothers and sisters. This whole seeing allows us to see others as God sees them. The Holy Family is the perfect example of how all families can work: our families of origin, the families in which we now find ourselves, and the family of our world. May we look to their example in helping us fine-tune our systems of family life so that God's presence can truly be revealed in and through them!

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP -

Recognize God in your ordinary moments, do you practice good stewardship with your family? Stewardship is about more than offerings to a church or charity. It is about continually giving of ourselves in a way that gives glory to God. Sharing our gifts with those in our immediate family honors God and is evidence of your gratitude for these people in your life. How can we effectively accomplish this? One way is to reflect on how the 6 characteristics of an Everyday Steward are present in our family relationships. Are we mindful when we are with our family members? Do we focus on them and their needs rather than our phone or TV? Do we hold up our family in prayer? Their concerns should be our concerns. Do we find ways to show how grateful we are for having them in our lives? When we find ourselves lacking in gratitude, we should reflect on what life would be like without them. Do we help one another without being asked because we have a gracious heart? It is easy to take for granted those we see all the time. Hospitality is not just for the stranger or guest. Are we committed to a life of stewardship that not only serves as a good example, but also helps our relatives thrive? Using our gifts without wisdom might mean we have little to give to those we love. Finally, do we hold each other accountable for our decisions and shortcomings? We are on the journey of life together, and no one exists in the Body of Christ alone. Stewardship is about the entirety of our lives. Our faith life is not reserved to Mass on a Sunday. It all begins and ends with those we love.

–Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

VIVIR LA LITURGIA -

La familia es un sistema complicado. Pueden ser experiencias que transforman o las más dolorosas. Nuestras familias de origen se hacen responsables del tipo de personas que somos y también las que seremos en el futuro. Aunque nuestras familias nos ayudan a realizar algunas de nuestras necesidades, esas necesidades no pueden ser su único propósito ni enfoque. Las familias felices y sanas consisten en las personas que siempre tienen el interés de los otros individuos que hacen la unidad familiar. Vivimos dentro de la familia más grande, que es la familia de Dios. Este sistema familiar no es egoísta. En esta familia se busca el bien estar de nuestros hermanos y hermanas. De esta forma podemos ver a los demás como Dios los ve. La Sagrada Familia es el ejemplo perfecto de cómo todas las familias deben de funcionar: nuestras familias de origen, las familias que tenemos ahora y nuestra familia del mundo. ¡Que sigamos el ejemplo de la Sagrada Familias para que la presencia de Dios se nos presente a través de ellos!

PREGUNTAS DE LA SEMANA -

Ana, madre de Samuel, es una mujer de gran fe. Si lo considera bien, ¿cómo es la fe de su propia madre?

Segunda lectura

Juan nos enseña que podemos ser "hijos de Dios" si creemos en Jesús y nos amamos los unos a los otros. ¿Qué piensa usted de estos dos mandatos?

Lectura del Evangelio

El evangelio de Lucas es el único que cuenta de la vida de Jesús de niño. Es un evento en el que les causa "gran ansiedad" a José y María. ¿Qué aprendió usted de esta historia?
