NOTES FROM FR. CARL.....

I hope everyone had a nice week. This past week I attended the Green Bay Catholic Diocese all schools Mass. It was held at the Resch Center and was a great event. This coming week a number of people will gather at the KI Convention Center for what's called the Leadership Convocation. Some of our staff will be participating. They have great speakers and many helpful ideas for our parishes.

In our gospel this week I like the words courage and faith. It is when we put these two together that we have the courage to live our lives out in our world. May we continue to pray for courage to live great lives of faith.

Please pray for Ruth Katherine Gerdmann daughter of Ryan and Barb, who was baptized this past weekend.

Have a blessed week! Fr. Carl

FROM THE DEACON'S DESK.....

The other day I had a great conversation with a friend of mine. He said at times he feels as though he is a little unsure or unfamiliar with some of the teachings of the Catholic Church.

Even some of the rituals and gestures during Mass we have been doing for years, but what are the meanings behind them? I had to admit I felt the same way before I went through formation to become a deacon. Even today there are some things I need to research for clarification. It's okay if we don't know everything, but it is important that we desire to learn more. There are many non-threatening opportunities to grow in our faith and knowledge. Catholic Man Night (Nov. 10th) is one such way to dialog with other men with the same or similar questions. St Ann's Society is another way for women grow in faith. There are also events throughout the year sponsored by the tri-parish adult faith formation team. Watch the bulletin or website for dates and times for opportunities to grow in understanding our rich faith.

God bless, Deacon Ray
