Edge and Life Teen

Middle & High School Religious Education

What a busy few weeks we've had! First the middle school mission trip to Milwaukee, then the Edge, Life Teen, and Alumni Lock-In, and then the Mission Trip thank you dinner! Thank you to everyone who has supported our youth ministry! If you want to see pictures, please go and "like" Sturgeon Bay Edge and Life Teen on Facebook. And if you aren't on Facebook and want to know more, don't hesitate to contact Sarah!

Just in case you were not able to attend the dinner last week, the mission trip to Milwaukee was incredible. Our young people were such hard workers and not afraid to step outside of their comfort zone! They not only worked hard, but they prayed hard. The word most used to describe the experience, "powerful."

Now that summer is officially winding down, it's time to start looking at Confirmation, Edge, and Life Teen. We are officially looking for adults to work with the middle and high school students along with kitchen help for Life Teen. Know anyone you think would be great working with that age? Contact Sarah.

Startup dates:

Edge: Wednesday, September 28th 6-7:15pm at Corpus Christi

Life Teen: Sunday, October 2nd: 5pm Mass followed by the Life Night until 8pm.

Confirmation dates: TBA

Homeless Shelter puts wheels in motion

St. John the Evangelist Homeless Shelter volunteers create Spokes 4 Hope

BY JEFF KUROWSKI | THE COMPASS

GREEN BAY — Tom Mayhew spins the rear tire of a bicycle secured firmly on a repair rack. The rotations cause a grinding noise. Mayhew, tools in hand, examines the derailleur and makes a slight adjustment. The next tire spin is smooth and steady. The bicycle is ready for the road; ready to provide a means of travel and more independence to a homeless person in the city.

Spokes 4 Hope, a bicycle repair program in cooperation with St. John the Evangelist Homeless Shelter, is back in service. The program, which opened in the St. John the Evangelist Church rectory garage last September, was shut down during the winter months and has since reopened in a space in the rectory basement. Spokes 4 Hope grew out of a conversation between Tony Pichler and Paula Rieder, members of the ministry team at the homeless shelter.

"Many times, for people on the streets, bikes are their primary mode of transportation. A year and a half ago, we were talking about how many bikes were sitting in the racks here at St. John's in disrepair," said Pichler, co-director of the Norbertine Center for Spirituality in De Pere. "What would it take to get a bike repair program started? How can we get those bikes back in good repair and give people back the mobility that they need?"

The program got off to a good start, in part through a generous donation.

"I met a woman named Donna Marie. I don't even know her last name," explained Rieder, coordinator of pastoral ministry at St. Raphael the Archangel Parish in Oshkosh. "She said, 'I have some bikes, can you use them?'"

FRANKLY, FRANCIS

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Due to changes in our globalized world, certain material and spiritual forms of poverty have multiplied: let us give space, therefore, to the imaginings of charity so as to find new ways of working. In this way, the way of mercy will become more and more concrete. It is necessary therefore, that we remain as vigilant as watchmen.

Focus on Jesus, see Jesus in the hungry, in prisoners, in the sick, in the naked, in those who don't have work and need to lead their family forward. See Jesus in these people, see Jesus in those who are lonely, sad, in those who have made mistakes and need counsel, in those who need to walk with Him in silence so that they feel accompanied. These are the works that Jesus asks of us! To see Jesus in them, in these people. This is the way Jesus sees me, sees all of us.

Praising God in the puddles: Lifest flooded with prayer, song

BY RACHEL KOEPKE | THE COMPASS

OSHKOSH — Unity among Christians was a common theme at Lifest 2016. Bishop David Ricken not only celebrated Mass on Sunday morning, he preached at the unity/evangelical worship service held for Christians of every denomination.

After a bit of a wet start, the sounds of Lifest could once again be heard throughout the Sunnyview Expo Center in Oshkosh. Featuring artists such as TobyMac, For King & Country and Matt Maher, Lifest 2016, held July 7-10, marked its 18th anniversary as a festival. This annual four-day Christian concert draws in people from all over the diocese and the state.

Bishop Ricken, joined by Fr. Jason Blahnik, celebrated Mass on Sunday morning at the Lifest grounds. Deacon John Ingala was deacon of the Mass. Music was led by Building Permit and the Emmanuel Choir from St. Mary Parish in Appleton. A special blessing was held before Mass.

As was a common theme at Lifest, Bishop Ricken's homily highlighted unity among Christians. "It's a beautiful spirit of humanism that we can gather with all these other Christian people of different denominations and evangelicals and share and praise and honor Jesus."

Our full story appears in the July 15 issue.

5 THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Emperors and kings

PATRICIA KASTEN | THE COMPASS

- 1 August was named for Augustus Caesar, by vote of the Roman Senate, in 30 B.C. During Augustus' reign (27 B.C.-14 A.D.) Jesus was born.
- 2 Tiberius Caesar (14-37 A.D.) appointed Pontius Pilate procurator of Judea (26-37 A.D.). Pilate ordered Jesus' death.
- 3 Herod the Great was King of Judea when Jesus was born. He rebuilt the Second Temple — which Jesus knew well — in Jerusalem. It was destroyed in 70 A.D.
- 4 Peter and Paul were martyred in Rome during the reign of Nero Caesar (54-68 A.D.), who began persecuting Christians in 64 A.D., after the great Fire of Rome.
- 5 Constantine, who became Caesar in 306 A.D., signed the Edict of Milan in 313. It ended persecution of Christians.

Three things never to say to 'former Catholics'

The odds of having a loved one who is no longer practicing his or her Catholic faith are high. One in 13 Americans describe themselves as "former Catholics." This may mean that they are no longer attending Mass but they might still have a tenuous connection to Catholicism in terms of a lingering religious identity. I want to make you mindful of avoiding language which is damaging and hurtful.

A SPACE FOR GRACE

Julianne Stanz

"Once you leave, you can't come back"

Not only is this statement not true, it implies that we — rather than the will of God — are in control of a person's life. Many who leave the Church state that they are scared to come back because they are afraid of judgement and condemnation from family members, friends and parish staff. If someone is brave enough to come back to the Catholic Church we should be as compassionate and understanding as we can be. Remember the parable of the Prodigal Son? The Father waited for the son and welcomed him back with open arms. So should we.

"God doesn't love you anymore"

A teenager told her mother that she didn't know if she believed in God any more. Her mother responded "if you don't come to Church and practice your faith, God won't love you anymore". God's grace, regardless of whether we see it or not, is still active and working in a person's life. The call to eternal life, the Catechism of the Catholic Church tells us, comes "totally from God's decision" and surpasses "all power of human intellect and will". (CCC1998). God does love us and will always love us.

"You are going to Hell"

Few, if anyone, has ever been converted to Catholicism by angry finger wagging judgmentalism. We cannot be united to God unless we freely choose to love him (CCC1033). We might not agree with the road a loved one is walking but we are called to pray for them and at the right time to challenge them in love to help them grow. God predestines no one to go to hell (CCC1037) and neither should we.

A far better statement to those who are away from the Church is to live a life of faith that is a shining beacon and witness to Christ. They might not listen to what you say, but they will notice what you do. Be consistently Catholic and do so with joy and love in your heart! That in itself speaks volumes.
