EYMARD SPIRITUAL GATHERING

Get in the boat! The Eymard Spiritual Gathering is going "Prime Time" on August 25. It is time to get in the boat, put out to sea, and do what He asks. How does Pope Francis lead us? And how does he follow? The gathering will begin with a social at 6:00 p.m., followed by a potluck dinner. All attendees are asked to bring salads, sides or main dishes, to serve 6-8. There will also be the famous 50/50 raffle! Please call the parish office at 440-442-3410 to let us know you will be attending.

Solemnity of Saint Peter Julian Eymard: Each summer, we have these two wonderful weeks where we share our charism or gifts from our order, the Congregation of the Blessed Sacrament (SSS). First, as you know, we had our solemnity for Saint Ann, the patron saint of the USA Province (region) of the SSS. August 2 is the liturgical feast of our founder of our order, Saint Peter Julian Eymard. He lived in France From 1811-1856. He made many retreats, gave many retreats, wrote many letters and shared the special gift of the Eucharist with others. He founded three branches of one Eucharistic family: the Fathers, Deacons and Brothers; sister Servants of the Blessed Sacrament; and the lay branch, the Aggregation of the Blessed Sacrament.

Implementing Another Piece of the Pastoral Plan: How appropriate that during the Cycle B years of the Sunday lectionary, we are able to focus on the Eucharist from Week 17 – 23! Now in Week 18, we once again hear the Gospel of John, chapter 6, and what scripture scholars call, the “Bread of Life” discourse. As part of the Pastoral Plan, the interviews and surveys requested that the priests share more about the Eucharist, explain the Mass, and tell more about “why we do what we do.” Our theology, beliefs and education shape why we do what we do as priests. Not only during the homily, but also in the bulletin columns, we will share some of our own “takes” or unique gifts and perspectives that we Blessed Sacrament religious live, believe and share.

Questions from Leading the Mass: Here’s one question I am often asked, “Why, during the Eucharistic Prayer, do you not ‘show’ the big host only by itself?” Blame it on my schooling and Eucharistic theology, what current Eucharistic theologians teach, how I was trained and what I strongly believe! Let me explain a few things about “why I do what I do.”

First, I wish we still made our own bread for Mass. For centuries, the assembly brought the bread we used for Mass. This practice stopped when people stopped receiving communion regularly. With only religious or consecrated persons (sisters, nuns, brothers, monks and priests) receiving Holy Communion regularly, they made the bread, or later on, individual hosts for Mass. They still do today for income, and our hosts come from the Poor Clare nuns on Euclid Avenue in downtown Cleveland.

When we already have the hosts already “pre-cut” or made into hosts, we lose the sense of the “one bread, one body.” It lessens the importance of one of the most important moments of the Mass: The Fraction Rite (or the breaking of the bread). That’s why we sing the litany, “Lamb of God,” to accompany the breaking of the bread. This special ritual action reminds us of the Risen Christ’s presence. We hear in Luke’s Gospel the story of Emmaus, and how the disciples recognize Jesus: In the breaking of the bread. Having pre-made hosts reduces the fraction rite to a mere distribution into bowls. Like the Litany of Saints, the litany “Lamb of God” used to be quite lengthy to accompany the ritual of breaking bread and pouring the cups/chalices of blessing.

In order to not take away from the symbolism of the “one bread, one body,” I hold all the hosts together in the one vessel and fulfill the “one bread, one body” until the Fraction Rite moment when the bread is broken or now, distributed into the other bowls for the reception of Holy Communion.

Thirdly, one host is not more important than the other. I once had a parishioners (not in our parish) say, “Why don’t you hold up my host? Why is yours so special?” I realized quite quickly the “individualist” thought behind this and that every host is special and represents Christ – not just the priests or other liturgical ministers. One host is not more special than the other, whether because of size or who is holding it.

Furthermore, the question reminded me of what my teachers encouraged priests to do during the Eucharistic Prayer: show all the hosts. Once the bread is broken, then we show the one piece of bread with the chalice, that which the priest will consume. This is recognizing Christ and showing Christ in the broken bread, for a broken world that needs Christ's nourishing and healing. The Fraction Rite sometimes is lost in its importance due to the placement of the "Sign of Peace." Both are quite significant moments in the Mass, not to be missed, which is why in 1970 they were both brought back to prominence within the Mass.

Another Question: I have also been questioned many times over the years, "Why don't we do what Jesus did at the Last Supper?" You may have noticed by now, we do not follow the exact Last Supper ritual from scripture. Our rituals and Mass have evolved through the centuries. Our last update or major overhaul of our worship was in 1970 with the Missal of Paul VI. (We have had minor tweaks in 1975 and 2011.) If we followed Christ's words to the exact way, we would be distributing the bread during the Eucharistic Prayer, waiting for everyone to eat, then sharing the cup, and waiting for everyone to consume the Precious Blood. We do not follow every practice that we read in Sacred Scripture, nor have we ever done this in the ritual tradition of the church. We have always said the Eucharistic Prayer as one prayer and then distributed Holy Communion – an interesting trivia point that does make us think.

I hope this explanation gives you a better sense why some priests follow this practice, encourage this Eucharistic theology, and hope for a more traditional ritual practice to shape our understanding of the scripture passages that shape our Eucharistic practices. More to come in the following weeks, and if you have additional questions, about the Mass, please do not hesitate to write, call or tell me in person. As you know by now, I love teaching about the Eucharist, for it helps me live the charism of the Eucharist that Saint Peter Julian Eymard founded in our order, the SSS.

REMINDER: Construction in Progress: Each summer we do our major projects to get the campus ready for a new school year and take advantage of the great weather. Projects are rapidly happening, namely the replacement of the concrete around the handicap entrance (SE Narthex), removal of the old art/science module building and now new green space, and the moving of the school office in the Family Life Center and switch of the school office into an art classroom. (One classroom is being made into another science classroom.) The concrete will now have heating coils to help melt the ice, making it less of a hazard in the winter. Thanks for your tithing that supports these projects.

Let us continue to pray for each other!

In Christ our Eucharist,

Reverend John Thomas J. Lane, SSS, Class of 1979

Pastor

“Meditate well on this: Seek God above all things. It is right for you to seek God before and above everything else, because the majesty of God wishes you to receive what you ask for. This will also make you more ready to serve God and will enable you to love Him more perfectly.” - Saint Paschal Baylon.

We are truly blessed to have hosted the first Life in the Eucharist Retreat for Teens here at SPB this past weekend. More than 20 teens came together to learn how the Eucharist can bring nourishment, reconciliation, transformation, find peace in the abiding presence of our Lord, and help us on our mission to go out into the world and spread the Good News. I am truly grateful for our teen leaders who traveled to Florida a couple of weeks ago to become trained and led this weekend. Thank you Dominic, George, Ally, Elizabeth, Colleen, Nicolette, Nora, and Kylie for your dedication, faith, and willingness to lead this weekend. I am so proud of you! Please pray for us as we journey to Cedar Point this week!

The BEST is yet to come! Our Youth Group is heading to The FEST on Sunday, August 9 at the Center for Pastoral Leadership in Wickliffe (30 seconds off the highway). The FEST is about faith – family – and fun – all for FREE. Last year, more than 39,000 people from across the region came to our annual Catholic Family FESTival. It's the place to be and the thing to do this summer. We can't wait to listen to Mercy Me, Building 429, Matt Maher, pray, have fun, hang out, and meet new people. Please contact Mrs. Mickol at emickol@saintpaschal.com if you are interested in either meeting us there or riding down with us.
