THREE MISSIONS

Today we begin with one of the "servant songs" from the book of Isaiah, a song prophetic of Jesus' ministry of service. Isaiah's mission is not only to bring back the children of Jacob to gather in Israel; it is also to be "a light to the nations" (Isaiah 49:6). Jesus Christ, as servant, will be the fulfillment of the ancient prophecy and the basis of the new.

This Sunday we begin a series of readings from Paul's letter to the Corinthians. Here Paul is identified by his mission: he is an apostle of Jesus Christ. The church at Corinth to whom he addresses this letter is also identified: it is part of the universal church of God. The Corinthians are called to holiness, as are all Christians.

Though the feast of the Baptism of the Lord was celebrated last Monday, today's Gospel also alludes to the importance of that event. The reading emphasizes that Jesus "outranks" John: his baptism in the Spirit will eradicate sin. Jesus accepts John's baptism, even though it is he himself who is the Lamb of God.

Today's Good News - January 9, 2017

Today God encourages Jesus as he embarks on his public ministry. Jesus comes to John to be baptized. At first John is reluctant to do this, for he realizes (to an extent) who Jesus is and feels unworthy. But Jesus urges him to baptize him. Immediately afterwards, Jesus sees the "Spirit of God descending like a dove" and he hears a voice saying those beautiful words: "This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased." It is heartening to know that Jesus himself needed encouragement from God during his lifetime. Sometimes that encouragement came directly – as it does here and later at the transfiguration. But often God's encouragement came indirectly to Jesus through his apostles, friends, and those he served. Who encourages me in my life of faith? Whom do I encourage? Sr. Melannie Svoboda, SND
