

Dear Parishioners,

Today, we are celebrating the Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity. After the Easter Season, after reliving the event of Pentecost which renews the Baptism of the Church in the Holy Spirit, we turn our gaze, so to speak, towards “the open Heavens”, to enter with the eyes of faith into the depths of the mystery of God, one in substance and three in Persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

In the First Reading from the Book of Proverbs, Wisdom comes on the scene and stands beside God as His assistant, His “architect”. The “panoramic view” of the cosmos, seen through the eyes of Wisdom, is stupendous.

Wisdom herself admits: “I was playing on the surface of his earth; and I found delight in the sons of men”.

Wisdom likes to dwell in the midst of human beings, because in them she recognizes the image and likeness of the Creator. This preferential relationship of Wisdom with human beings calls to mind a famous passage from another of the wisdom books, the Book of Wisdom: We read: Wisdom “is a breath of the power of God... Though she is but one, she can do all things, and while remaining in herself, she renews all things; in every generation she passes into holy souls and makes them friends of God, and prophets”.

The last evocative expression is an invitation to consider the multiform and inexhaustible manifestation of holiness in the People of God down the centuries. God’s Wisdom is manifest in the cosmos in the variety and beauty of its elements, but His masterpieces, where His beauty and His greatness truly appear much more, are the saints.

What we have already observed about Wisdom occurs here too: the Spirit of truth reveals God’s design in the multiplicity of cosmic elements - we are grateful for this visibility of God’s beauty and goodness in the elements of the cosmos -, and He does so above all through human people and especially through the saints where His light, His truth, His love appear with great power.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Father Newcomb
