Dear Parishioners,

The Gospel today presents Jesus sending out 72 disciples to the villages He is about to visit in order to prepare the way. This is a particular feature of the Evangelist Luke, who stressed that the mission was not exclusive to the Twelve Apostles but extended also to the other disciples. Indeed, Jesus said: “The harvest is plentiful but the laborers are few”.

There is work for all in God’s field. Christ, however, did not limit himself to sending out his missionaries: he also gave them clear and precise instructions on how to behave. He first sent them out “two by two” so that they might help each other and bear witness to brotherly love. He warned them that they would be like “lambs in the midst of wolves”. They were to be peaceful in spite of everything, and were to bear a message of peace in every situation; they were not to take clothes or money with them in order to live on whatever Providence offered them; they were to heal the sick as a sign of God’s mercy; wherever people rejected them, they were to depart, doing no more than to alert them to their responsibility for rejecting the Kingdom of God. Saint Luke highlighted the disciples’ enthusiasm at the good results of their mission and recorded Jesus’ beautiful expression: “Do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you; but rejoice that your names are written in heaven”. May this Gospel reawaken in all the baptized the awareness that they are missionaries of Christ, called to prepare the way for Him with words and with the witness of their lives.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Father Newcomb
