LITURGY BYTE

“Are you envious because I am generous?” The landowner in today’s Gospel parable offers a direct challenge to our sense of fairness. Why should those who worked only a few hours receive the same wage as those who worked all day? Especially in our culture, where many people work for an hourly wage, Jesus’ parable seems to threaten society’s economic foundation. How can “hard work” be rewarded if everyone is the same?

Isaiah offers the quick and easy answer to this question: “My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways my ways, says the LORD”.

And so we must ask: Just how are we to do this, if God’s justice, as embodied in Jesus’ parable, requires that everyone be treated “the same”? How are we to “come to possess your redemption both in mystery and in the manner of our life?”

And yet, we do indeed make present today’s Gospel passage in every Eucharist, when everyone – sinner and saint, rich and poor, young and old – approaches the Lord’s table to eat and drink, each receiving only what he or she needs.

It is left to each of us to turn over this clash between our culture and God’s reign, to discover what it means in our daily lives. Let the liturgy this week give the assembly something to chew on.

CATECHETICAL SUNDAY

Today, the Church celebrates Catechetical Sunday. Those whom the community has designated to serve as catechists will be called forth to be commissioned for their ministry. Catechetical Sunday is a wonderful opportunity to reflect on the role that each person plays, by virtue of Baptism, in handing on the faith and being a witness to the Gospel. Catechetical Sunday is an opportunity for all to rededicate themselves to this mission as a community of faith.

The following have volunteered to be Catechists, and we thank them!

Jaci Balto	Joan Taylor
Joanne Doss	Elsie Vazquez
Victoria Vasquez	Frank Vazquez
Dolores Harden	Mercedes Vazquez
Patricia McManus	William Venturini
Kathy Schweikle	TerriAnn Venturini
Marie Smolka
Consuelo Soto

NEXT WEEK'S READINGS TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

First Reading: Ezekiel 18:25-28

Ezekiel reminds the people that if a sinner turns away from his iniquity, he will live, not die.

Second Reading: Philippians 2:1-11

Paul urges the converts at Philippi to be united in spirit and ideals, avoiding rivalry and dissension. He ends with the beautiful hymn extolling the humility and sacrifice of Christ.

Gospel: Matthew 21:28-32

Jesus speaks words of rebuke to the chief priests and the elders because they are not believing the teachings of John the Baptist. He warns them that tax collectors and prostitutes, who do believe John, will enter the Kingdom of God before them.
