What better gift than Mass prayers and to light the Tabernacle candle to have friends and family remembered for birthdays, anniversaries, and so many other occasions. Mass intentions and candles are not only for the deceased, but also as a Special Intention for the Living. Feel free to call us with a date. There is a list of available dates. You can leave your $15 donation for Mass stipends or $10 for the tabernacle offering in the rectory.

6th. Sunday of Easter May 21, 2017

First Reading: Acts 8:5-8, 14-17

Philip, one of the chosen seven Greek-speaking Jews (not the Apostle), makes converts in Samaria by his preaching and miracle-working. Later, the apostles Peter and John visit the city, officially bonding it to the mother Church.

Second Reading: I Peter 3:15-18

Peter urges his readers to give reasons for their hope to any inquirers. He also offers confidence to those being persecuted by reminding them of Christ's salvific suffering for their sakes.

Gospel: John 14:15-21

Jesus promises to be with His disciples by His sending "another Advocate, the Spirit of truth." He also connects a disciple's love of Him with observance of His commands.

Reflection by Rev. Leonard N. Peterson

When someone declares his or her “hate” of brussel sprouts or broccoli, neither vegetable is insulted. Why not? Because they are not persons. But to make a quantum leap from those objects to a hatred of Almighty God, and there is definite insult happening. Why? Because God is a Person, in fact Three Persons, as revealed to us by Jesus. Only a being with intellect and will is truly a person, and such a being can express love through outward action.

Now all of this philosophical musing brings us to the fact that we followers of Jesus have no reason ever to insult God by saying that He does not love us. Once we accept His passion and death on the cross as proof of His love, no other response but love is appropriate. The disheartening fact is that we often insult God anyway. Why we do so is really a memory lapse. We forget to pray regularly. We forget that our sinful attitudes amount to an insult to God as a Person.

Anybody caught up in the present secular mindset that denies God’s place in our world might be excused for believing an evil action only breaks a conduct code of some kind, or violates a principle. Such a person can be persuaded otherwise. But not without the gift of Faith. Until then, he or she will think their evil decision-making is a private matter that doesn’t insult any non-existent God.

Jesus preached that we are God’s friends. His crucifixion proved that “Greater love than this no man has: to lay down his life for his friends.” The plain fact that none of us ever deliberately insult our friends may be a starting point to convince a non-believer.

Meanwhile, we can all try harder to do away with the many insults we give God in our culture. The very existence of groups like Planned Parenthood is one. Pornography is another. Confining religious practice to Sunday is still another.

The good news is that our sorrow and penance bring forth that very personal wonderful smile on God’s face. Coupled with His embrace in friendship is comfort of the highest order. Perhaps our best mode of thanks is to be ever vigilant to avoid those small deviations can lead to big detours from His friendship.

In St. Louis there is a railroad switchyard. One particular switch begins with just the thinnest piece of steel to direct a train away from one main track to another. If you were to follow those two tracks, however, you would find that one ends in San Francisco, the other in New York. Sin is like that. Just a small deviation from God’s standards can place us far afield from our intended destination. Don’t we all want to get home?
