Happy Independence Day! (Fourth of July)

The parable of the Independence Day: There is a little boy called Sam was playing in the yard behind his house. During his pretend fighting game, he knocked over the outhouse. Now Sam was upset and worried that he would get into trouble so he ran into the woods and didn't come out until after it got dark. When he arrived back home, his pappy was waiting for him. He asked suspiciously, "Son, did you knock over the outhouse this afternoon?" "No, pappy," Sam lied. "Well, let me tell you a story," said the father. "Once, not that long ago, Mr. Washington received a shiny new axe from his father. Excited, he tried it out on a tree, swiftly cutting it down. But as he looked at the tree, with dismay he realized it was his mother's favorite cherry tree," his pappy paused." just like you, he ran into the woods. When he returned, his pappy asked, 'George, did you cut down the cherry tree?' George answered with, 'Father, I cannot tell a lie. I did indeed chop down the tree.' Then his father said, 'Well, since you were honest with me, you are spared from punishment. I hope you have learned your lesson, though.' So, Sam's father asked again, " did you knock down the outhouse?" "Pappy, I cannot tell a lie anymore." said the little boy. "I did indeed knock down the outhouse." Then his pappy spanked Sam red, white, and blue. The boy whimpered, "Pappy, I told you the truth! Why did you spank me?" Pappy answered, "That's because George Washington's father wasn't in the tree when he chopped it down!"

The celebration of the Independence Day: it is commonly known as the Fourth of July or July Fourth, is a federal holiday in the United States commemorating the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, declaring independence from Great Britain. Independence Day is commonly associated with fireworks, parades, bar-b-ques, carnivals, fairs, picnics, concerts, baseball games, family reunions, and political speeches and ceremonies, in addition to various other public and private events celebrating the history, government, and traditions of the United States. The great values of our forefathers: As Abraham Lincoln said, "Democracy is the government of the people, by the people, for the people," let us try to fix it if it goes away from the people. As Benjamin Franklin said, "Where liberty dwells, there is my country," we got freedom from Britain historically but we have to fight for freedom in our country when freedom for a noble cause is jeopardized so as to make our own history. As John F. Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country," let us contribute for the peace and development of our country. Moreover, as he said, "A man may die, nations may rise and fall but ideas live on," let us always stand for at least some undying good values in our life. Furthermore, as he mentioned, "As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them," let us try to live up to the great ideals and values of those who brought us the freedom of our country. As Christians, let us strive toward our spiritual freedom from any kind of social and personal sin and to establish the eternal kingdom values of our Lord: love, peace, justice, equality, brotherhood, etc.

Prayers and Blessings, Rev. Dr. Lawrence Rasaian, JCD, PhD
